Letter to E. F. Barnes.

Newton.

Dear Sir: Your business is, what a house burns down, to give the owner some money to build a new one. It is a good business. Queer that the world got on so long without it. We paint the one that burnt down and the new one too. What is better, we paint the houses that don't burn down. You insure the houses that burn; we insure the houses that don't burn; we have the ashes and smoke; all the houses are ours.

We paint lead and zinc; Devco. We sell the paint to painters; we don't paint.

Lead and oil is the old-fashion paint. Devco is zinc ground in with the lead and linseed oil—same properties as used by U. S. Government for the heat paint in the world; and the cheapest, because the work is all done by machinery.

Nobody wants poor paint; there's lots of it, though, in the world.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devco & Co.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Ex-Mayor Speare's Memory Honored by Resolutions and Speeches.

Mayor Weeks Vetoes Firemen's Order—Jurors Drawn and Other Routine Business Transacted

A special meeting of the aldermen was called by the Mayor for last Monday evening, from which only Alderman Pulsifer was absent.

President Weed occupied the chair and R. G. Dodge, Esq., assistant attorney general of the state and a law partner of Alderman Carter was his guest.

In the absence of Mayor Weeks, the president conducted the proceedings for drawing of jurors, and designated Alderman Weldon to officiate. Frank L. Hunting, Elliot street, Oliver G. Billings, Oak street, and Geo. L. Forristall, Bowdoin street, were drawn for the superior court at Cambridge, and Amos R. Wells, Auburn place, and E. Everett Bird, Chester street were drawn for the supreme court at Lowell.

The following communication from Mayor Weeks relative to the death of ex-Mayor Alden Speare was read:

To the Board of Aldermen,

Gentlemen:—

It is my painful duty to announce the death, at Pasadena, California, March 22, 1902, of the Hon. Alden Speare after a long life of activities and successes in the many important positions and relations which he filled.

A citizen of Newton since 1868, he was in 1876 selected its second Mayor, and re-elected the following year.

He served the city in 1875 on the school board and during the last twenty-six years had been one of our board of sinking fund commissioners, seven years of which he was chairman of the board, a position which has always been filled by a citizen of the highest integrity and standing in official, business and personal life.

The flags of the city have been placed and will remain at half mast until after the funeral ceremonies, and I would suggest that ex-Mayor Speare's memory be further honored by you in such manner as seems to you appropriate.

Very respectfully,
JOHN W. WEEKS,
Mayor.

Alderman Saltonstall then offered the following resolutions:

RESOLVED, That the board of aldermen of the City of Newton hereby records its appreciation of the life and character of the late Honorable Alden Speare.

For a period of thirty-four years he has been an honored and public spirited resident and citizen of the town and city. During that period not only in the city of his home, but in the broader fields of his activities, he has been distinguished for the personal purity of his life, his strong business integrity, the sincerity of his Christian profession, his loyalty to the church of his choice and the systematic generosity of his benefactions. Although large private interests claimed his time and attention, his duty as a citizen was never forgotten, and always faithfully performed. As a member of the school committee, the city's second mayor, and during the remaining years of his life one of the sinking fund commissioners, he has brought to the discharge of his public duties, the same devotion, honesty and ability which made him successful and eminent in the business world, and has furnished an example of the highest type of citizenship. In his death the community and city have suffered a great loss, but his life and public services have ensured for him the grateful memory of his fellow citizens.

RESOLVED, That this board extends its deepest sympathy to the widow and immediate family of the deceased in their overwhelming personal loss and sorrow.

In seconding the resolutions Alderman Mellen spoke as follows:

While it was not my good fortune to know Mr. Speare personally, I have often seen him and have always heard him spoken of in the highest terms by his fellow citizens. As I have read the biographies of great men I have often desired to find some symbolical phrase or word which would be expressive of a man's characteristics. For instance we read in history of George Washington, and the word "patriotic" seems to apply to him better than any word in the vocabulary of the English language. Lincoln, we call, "great-hearted;" Grant, "steadfast;" McKinley, "pure;" Roosevelt, "strenuous;" and now when we desire to find some word or phrase which will express the qualities of our late departed fellow citizen, it seems to me that the word "faithful" will best express what we mean. He was faithful in what which was least, he was faithful also in much. As a father, as a husband, as a neighbor, and as a friend, as a church member and a private citizen he was faithful, and when called by his fellow citizens to fill the highest office in the city, he was never found wanting; he was always faithful. In the last great trust which he performed he won the everlasting gratitude of his fellow citizens of Newton, by looking after the finances of the city so carefully. So Mr. President, it is a great pleasure in seconding these resolutions to the memory of this man whose memory will ever be green and fragrant in our city and throughout our Commonwealth.

Alderman Ensign then said that at the funeral services that afternoon he had never heard such true remarks, although there was nothing fulsome said or done.

He alluded to Mr. Speare's reluctance to accept the mayoralty and his faithful performance of that duty. He also referred to his domestic qualities, as a kind father, loving husband and his love for home, and stated that he believed such men were rapidly passing away, and that the example of Mayor Speare was worthy of commendation.

The resolutions were then unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

A communication from the Mayor relative to Old Home Week was referred to the committee on rules, etc.

FIRST VETO.

The following communication from the Mayor was then read:

To the Board of Aldermen,

Gentlemen:—

I return herewith with my approval order No. 27348 which transfers $641.75 from the various purposes for which it was appropriated in the last annual budget for the fire department, to be used for the employment of an additional man or men for the purpose of giving the permanent men of the fire department a leave of absence of one day in every ten instead of one day in fourteen as now prevails.

The necessity for this action should depend on two things:

1st, whether it will increase the efficiency of the fire department, and 2nd, whether the firemen under present conditions are not receiving adequate compensation and proper treatment. It would be a grave reflection, and an unjust one in my opinion, to assume that the men in the fire department will perform their duties with greater efficiency with this additional privilege granted them than they do at present. I think it is generally recognized that as organized and at present managed, the fire department is efficient and meets the wishes of our citizens; therefore the necessity for this, if there is necessity, must rest on the question of whether the men here fairly treated and paid. I believe they are, and that this order should not have passed for the following reasons:

It has been the policy of the Chief of the Department for many years to fill the vacancies in the permanent force from the ranks of carpenters, et al., employed in building operations. Nearly all of our present force came from this class. The average pay for carpenters in Newton is about $2.50 per day, or if men were employed every day including holidays, and receiving pay for every day they would get $780 a year. As a matter of fact, with holidays, sickness and enforced idleness taken into consideration, I believe it is a fact that their income would be about $600 instead of $780.

There are thirty men including those in the inspection of wires department on the permanent force, of whom two get about $23 per week or $1200 per year; 18 get $21 per week or $1095 per year; 10 get $17.50 per week or $912.50 per year.

Our firemen receive their pay promptly.

It is not the custom to make any deductions in case of sickness, so that there is no loss of time.

With the exception of two men, all of the men are able to live in the immediate neighborhood of their engine houses.

When in uniform they ride on electric cars without paying fare.

They are exempt from jury duty. There has not been a case on record for eight years where a man has voluntarily left the force either to return to his vocation or to go into another business.

There are more applications for permanent positions on the force than there are likely to be places for probably the next twenty years, judging by the changes that have taken place in the last ten years.

Men join the call force and perform active service for nominal pay, with the understanding and belief that the ranks of the permanent men will be recruited from call men.

Every man on the force joined under the conditions now in vogue and did not consider their duties burdensome so far as there is any record to show, until recently, although the men on the present force have served from two to twenty-eight years, having an average service of more than ten years.

The city of Newton pays $1.89 per capita to maintain and operate its fire department. To show that this is a high rate, I give the per capita expense in those other cities in the state having a population of between 30,000 and 40,000, or practically equal to Newton's:

Haverhill,	$1.38
Salem,	.94
Chelsea,	.96
Malden,	1.02
Fitchburg,	.90
Taunton,	.85

An average of $1.01, or a little more than one-half of Newton's cost.

As a further evidence that this is as much of a burden as Newton ought to bear, and is quite out of proportion to what is borne by the cities above named, it is sufficient to say that the net debts of these cities are very little more than one-quarter of Newton's.

There are but two cities in the United States having a population of more than 30,000 appropriating a larger per capita for the fire department than Newton.

In addition to the above reasons, an order has just passed the board authorizing the building of an engine house at Chestnut Hill, which with its equipment will cost nearly $20,000. It will necessitate at least three additional permanent men, or an annual expenditure, including interest and sinking fund charges, of nearly $5,000.

I therefore conclude that the firemen are well paid and as well treated by the city of Newton as the burdens of the taxpayers warrant, and I trust that this matter will be given further consideration by your board.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN W. WEEKS, Mayor.

Alderman Hubbard asked that the matter lie on the table until the next meeting of the board, and Alderman Mellen in answer to an inquiry said that he desired to compare the figures submitted by the mayor with those of his own. Alderman Mellen thought that the board had been called together for this very purpose and opposed postponement. On a hand vote 9 voted in favor and 9 against the motion, and President Weed in casting a vote in favor said that he did so as there was not a clear majority in favor of present consideration of the matter, and as some of the board were absent.

A communication from the Mayor relative to returning the $5,000 forfeit deposited by the B. & W. Street Railway Co. last summer was read and a proper order authorized.

A communication from Representative Dana relative to a bill for Greater Boston was read and filed.

A communication from the Board of Health requesting sewers in Edinboro street, Adams street and Chaulder street was referred to the public works committee.

Frank A. Deane and Geo. F. Williams were granted renewals of their auctioneer's licenses without reference.

E. Otis Jennison was granted permission to move a building on California street as far as Los Angeles street, after a desultory debate between Aldermen Trowbridge, Weldon and Street Commissioner Ross.

Petitions of R. M. Clark et al for drainage of Elmore and Ward streets, of C. P. Cogswell trustee, et al. relative to culvert under Hull street; of C. P. Cogswell, trustee, et al., for sewer in Dexter road, and of Annie W. Proctor for sewer in Hammond street were referred to the public works committee.

Petition of T. Stuart & Son Co., to lay track on Boylston, Winchester and Needham streets and to operate cars by steam in constructing Boylston street was referred to the public franchise committee, after Alderman Weldon had urged speedy action.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

A report of the finance committee recommending that $10,000 be advanced by the City Treasurer on account of expenses on Boylston street; of the public works committee favorable to $262.50 for kindergarten accommodations in the Hyde district, and favorable to $722.50 for furnishing the contagious ward, Newton hospital; of the rules committee relative to reorganization of the assessors' department were received.

The report of the select committee on perambulation of boundary line between Newton and Boston was accepted.

Under suspension of the rules, orders appropriating $262.50 for kindergarten accommodations in the Hyde district and for $722.50 for furnishings at contagious ward, Newton hospital, were adopted.

A recess was then taken to allow a meeting of the franchise committee and upon reassembling, the favorable report of that committee upon the petition of Stuart & Son Co. to lay a track on Boylston, Winchester and Needham streets was received, and the accompanying order adopted after brief explanations by Aldermen Trowbridge and Weldon.

On the order requesting legislative authority to allow the mayor to appoint a chairman of the board of assessors, Alderman Mellen said that he believed some radical change should be made in the present organization and that the proposed bill is not radical enough.

Alderman Hutchinson stated that the present law gave the aldermen authority to fix the number of the board of assessors, and that legislation is only needed to authorize the appointment of a chairman by the mayor.

Brief remarks were made by President Weed and Alderman Brown, a referendum amendment offered by Alderman Webster was defeated and the original order adopted.

An order authorizing the treasurer to return the $5,000 forfeit deposited by the B. & W. Street Railway Co. was adopted.

A long discussion followed the presentation of the order authorizing the treasurer to advance $10,000 on account of expenses of widening Boylston street. The point in question being over the method of ultimately raising the money. Remarks were made by Aldermen Lothrop, Hutchinson, Mellen, Ensign and President Weed, after which the order was amended so as to charge the account to the issue of bonds or notes, and adopted.

And at 9.40 p. m. the board adjourned.

Communication.

Mr. Editor:

I wish to heartily endorse the opinions and arguments of the letter in regard to our Public Library in the last number of the Graphic. Criticism of any public institution is always in order, but this criticism should rest upon consideration of the public good, rather than upon individual grievances. I have heard persons blame the library because it did not have some particular book, but every one is at liberty to call attention to that lack. No librarian or library committee is omniscient and the people who use the library can often help them in the selection of books. I have used our public library for more than twenty years and although I have had during that time access to the libraries of Harvard College and of the Athenaeum in Boston, I have very seldom needed to make use of them, because I found what I needed in our own. The greatest complaint of our library seems to be that it is very hard to get the latest works of fiction. My personal opinion is, that libraries should not be maintained at the public expense for that purpose. We have no more right to tax one citizen to supply another with the fiction of the hour than we have to tax him to supply another with charlotte russe.

The Churches and the Associated Charities.

Dr. Washington Gladden in his Lyman Beecher Course of lectures at Yale says: "The churches have important business with the poor, whether worthy or unworthy. Much may be done by the local church on its own impulse. From a company of volunteer visitors a field should be provided for each family. The deepest need of the poor is spiritual not material. The want is for friendship, hope, self-respect; character is the thing to be saved."

The Associated Charities of Newton could not set forth a more concise and accurate presentation of its purpose as an organization than the above statement. Dr. Gladden reveals in these words his affiliation with such an organization in his own city, to which we know he has given his influence and his practical assistance.

Some might say that as a secular organization the Associated Charities would not use the word "spiritual" as the reverend lecturer has used it in his lecture to theological students. If any one of true charitable instincts wishes the word expunged, we are willing to consider the matter; but the fact will remain that every-unnominally working on external religious lines, cannot do its benevolent work, without recognizing the "spiritual" as well as the temporal needs of the poor; and if the highest well being of the beneficiary of any charitable organization, is not spiritually assisted, but the reverse, by aid and visitation, we might as well disband.

Consequently, it remains true that local churches have a real affiliation with our association. They are among our best supporters. Their members are among our most reliable visitors and workers and givers.

And that the local churches of Newton should do much as Dr. Gladden affirms, "on their own impulse," along the same lines with the Associated Charities, we gladly endorse. Too much cannot be done on the principles we have adopted, as set forth by our reverend friend of organized charities. We hail the co-operation of every church in Newton. The more the churches deal thus with their poor, the greater will they feel the benefit of cooperation with us; the more will they use our registration and visitatorial department. Let the clergy of Newton continue to recognize, and publicly to allude to the value of our agency, and that value will be increased.

The work of the churches among the poor will also gain in systematic and careful giving, while the hearts of our officers and visitors will be cheered and strengthened.

We thank the churches and their ministers for having, from the origin of our society given it their hearty support; and in return, we would repay their generous attitude by doing all we can to unite our forces in carrying forward the good work.

Newton The Garden City.

The publication of an historical sketch of Newton entitled "Newton the Garden City of the Commonwealth," is now well advanced and has received the endorsement and subscriptions of the leading men of the city.

It will contain valuable and interesting historical matter, fully illustrated, and will tell of leading events, characters and progress of the city, and the many advantages of Newton as a beautiful and desirable place of residence will be fully shown. The volume will also contain the portraits and biographies of representative men who, in their lives, their work or their influence have made Newton of to-day the garden city of the Commonwealth and of New England.

It is believed that such a work will commend itself to the citizens of Newton as bringing together a carefully collated record of the lives of men who have contributed to the welfare of our city; men of whom we are justly proud as educators, lawyers, physicians, clergymen and men of affairs.

Such a publication at this time will give to the present, an up to date account of the city and will bequeath to the future a legacy of what Newton was at the beginning of what promises to be a most remarkable century.

Copies of the book will be sent to the prominent institutions of learning, libraries and clubs of New England and New York.

The book will be issued in the early spring.

"A CRAZY IDEA."

FOUR-ACT PLAY TO BE GIVEN BY THE ENTERTAINMENT CLUB IN CHANNING CHURCH PARLORS WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 9TH.

What promises to fittingly mark the close of the Entertainment Club's season is a four-act play entitled "A Crazy Idea." It is to be given in the parlors of the Channing church, Newton, Wednesday evening of next week (April 9), at precisely 7.45 o'clock.

The cast is one of the largest of any of the plays yet given by this popular organization of amateurs. Rehearsals have been going on for some time and there is every indication that the hard work and effort of the young people will result in a flattering success.

As the name implies "A Crazy Idea" is a comedy pure and simple. It is not a hodge-podge of nonsense but tells a highly amusing yet very probable story in which interest is felt at the rise of the curtain and does not flag, but rather increases, until the last act is over.

Full of ludicrous situations and abounding in witty dialogue every act is as funny as the other, and it will be hard to tell what provoked the heartiest laughs.

The cast:
James Stone, George H. Daniels
Beatrice, his young wife,
Miss Carolyn Dennis
Eva, his daughter by his first wife,
Miss Gertrude G. Copeland

CONCERT.

JOAN OF ARC.

The historical cantata Joan d'Arc, Maid of Orleans, to be given by the Newton Choral Association at their next concert is one of the later works of Alfred R. Gaul.

The composer was born in Norwich, England, April 30, 1837. He is organist of St. Augustine's, Birmingham, a teacher at the Midland Institute and conductor of the Birmingham Choral Society. His works include the well-known cantatas of "Ruth" and "The Holy City." In choosing the subject of Joan of Arc Gaul had large opportunity for showing his ability as a writer of widely contrasting music.

The Maid of Orleans is perhaps the best known and most popular of heroines. Near her native village of Domremy was a famous beech-tree, under which a stream of clear water flowed. A superstition prevailed among the people that fairies had blessed this tree and bestowed healing properties upon the waters of the stream. The cantata opens with a chorus by the youths and maidens, who, once each year, hung the boughs of this sacred tree with garlands and danced under its shading branches. The young people are all anxiously watching for Joan, especially one youth called Philip. His song entitled "There is no one like her" is most charming.

Joan's approach is hailed with joy; but she takes no part in the song or dance for her thoughts are all of France. She hears only those "voices" which during three years have made themselves audible to her many times each week urging her to the rescue of France. Now she hesitates no longer but answers that she comes at their call and bids farewell to the valley.

The next scene is at the Vaucouleurs, where Joan seeks and at length obtains, the aid of Robert de Baudricourt, the Governor. Accompanied by Jean de Nevelonpont, Philip and four armed men, she journeys toward Orleans. The maid is seen as she passes Gien, mounted upon a superb snow white steed. She wears a knight's armor and carries a sword that was found as the voices had told her, in the church vault at Fierbois. Her banner is white, covered with the lilies of France, and emblazoned with the inscription "Jesus, Maria!"

The way is filled with dangers but finally in the dead of night with a band of two hundred men Joan enters the beleaguered city of Orleans in the face of the enemy.

The following day, the English are so influenced by Joan's peculiar power that they allow her army to enter the city, and make no resistance. They seem paralyzed with fear, and express belief that the peasant maid is aided by evil spirits. The chorus, "On! to the battle on!" and the trio, "To fight till victory's won!" are the most stirring of the work. The battle is marvellously successful and the siege of Orleans is raised. Joan hastens to the cathedral to give thanks and the "Ave Maria" follows in sweet contrast to the preceding battle strains. Many victories follow but before the close of the combat at Compiegne Joan is obliged to sound retreat. Through treachery her attempted escape is cut off and she is taken prisoner. The joy of the English is overwhelming and the despair of the French correspondingly great. Joan is taken to Rouen and burned at the stake. Even then she hears the voices "groning."

"When all thy woes is past, Thou shalt come unto Paradise."

The closing of this soul-stirring work is again at Domremy, where the youth and maidens are once more celebrating their May festival. This time the song is changed to mourning by the announcement of Joan's sacrificial death. She had received one honor more, "the formless fiery crown."

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic)

Boston, April 2.
The fourth month of the sessions of the General Court of 1902 begins with the members on the "qui vive" for the great social event of the year, the reception given by Governor Crane to the members of the General Court and their wives at the Hotel Somerset this afternoon. If one may judge from experiences of former years, this will be an extremely gratifying and enjoyable occasion for all who participate. The governor avoids formality as much as possible, and everybody is likely to have a good time.

Mr. Bullard's committee on railroads has reported "leave to withdraw" on the petitions of Representatives Beare of Springfield, Reed of Taunton, and Hunt of Worcester for legislation to establish a maximum rate of fares not exceeding two cents a mile, upon the railroads of the Commonwealth. Messrs. Donovan of Cambridge and Nightingale of Fall River, members of the committee, dissent. Practically the first agitation for this reduction of fares was started by ex-Representative Estabrooks of Newton many years ago. The real facts are, of course, as has been frequently pointed out by William H. Coolidge of your city, general counsel of the Boston and Maine system, that the rate of fare in the vicinity of Boston is much less than two cents per mile, and the only effect of such a bill as is asked would be to reduce the rate on long distance travelling. With the average rate as low as it is, it seems that the railroad committee feels that it is wiser to leave the railroad corporations to themselves in the matter of making up schedules of rates, the result being that where there is a heavy amount of travel, rates are reduced, and where the travel is light, they are higher than two cents a mile. The law of supply and demand seems to rule here as in other fields of effort.

The number of hearings is daily lessening, although the week began with nearly 200 matters still in the dockets of the committees.

The arguments on the anti-vivisection bill will be made before the committee on probate and chancery today. On this matter, no person has labored more faithfully than Mrs. Ward of Newton Centre.

The committee on the judiciary has reported a bill to abolish the death penalty. Mrs. Spooner of Boston, well known in connection with work among prisoners and in other directions, is the great advocate of this measure. For years, she has come to the State House and used her influence in every way that she rightly could, to help it along.

As was the case a year ago, the bill barely got out of the committee without an adverse report. Senator Apsey of Cambridge, and Representatives Dana of Newton, Newton of Everett, Taft of Worcester, Massfield and Draper of Boston and Lewis of Cambridge dissented. These names indicate that the measure will have great difficulty in getting through all its stages.

The Middlesex County tax has been reported and the resolve granting the same, asked by the commissioners, has had all its readings. The items in this tax have already appeared in this correspondence.

Mr. Bullard and his associates on the railroad and street railway committees are still studying the grade crossing problem, although nobody outside the committee seems to doubt that it will report the $500,000 grade crossing bill and that the street railway companies will be asked to meet fifteen per cent. of the expense of separating grades.

W. H. Baker of Newton has made his annual onslaught on the Boston police board within a week, but there is little to indicate that Senator Skinner and his associates on the metropolitan affairs committee will take any different attitude on the proposition this year from that taken previously.

Representative Dana has reported from his committee on insurance nearly every matter before it, a petition for amendment to the standard form of fire insurance policy, another for legislation on foreign insurance companies, and a third for a charter to Winslow Warren and others to do health insurance being all that remained in the docket when the week opened.

One of Boston's rising attorneys, Mr. Garcelon of Newton, has been very much interested in the discussion before the committee on banks and banking, concerning the granting of charters for new trust companies. A rather mysterious hesitancy on the part of the committee baffled the petitioners for these companies at first, but it seems to be now explained through the action of submitting a bill to provide for a general state banking system which would probably lead to the organization of small banks instead of trust companies. Several of these petitions, of which there were nearly a dozen, have been withdrawn as a result of the action of the commissioners. An interesting event on Friday of last week was the visit of ex-Governor Garcelon of Maine, father of the Newton man, to the House, where he sat at the speaker's side during most of the exercises. While he was in the House, one of the messengers, Capt. James B. Clark of Hudson, a veteran of three wars, told the writer that before the civil war, he was an attendant in the operating department of the Boston City Hospital, where Dr. Garcelon was the chief surgeon, and he added many interesting reminiscences concerning the characteristics of this famous surgeon and politician.

The metropolitan affairs committee has as yet made no report on the bill to provide for an electric car service through the metropolitan park system to be maintained by the district.

Spring.

The return of spring weather revives the annoyance from dogs in some parts of Newton. It would be well if all owners of dogs could be presented with a copy of an existing law of this city, which is by no means a dead letter. It runs as follows:

"Anyone keeping a barking, biting, howling, or yelping dog, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding $15.00." People who tie up their dogs, causing them to bark, yelp and howl are liable to this fine. Of course if an owner of dogs have a large place, he can keep several and tie them up, if he chooses, without annoying anyone, but it is usually the man who lives in a little ten footer in a closely settled neighborhood, who keeps the dog with the biggest bark and ties him up, too; as a rule, a dog will not bark much if allowed his liberty, and if he does, a little pains-taking on the part of his master will break him of it. It is surprising how people will sometimes allow their dogs to bark incessantly without speaking a word or doing anything to check them.

Before we begin to tax cats, let us increase the dog license. Many residents of Newton would be grateful if some member of the city government would introduce a bill to that effect.

FOURTH ANNUAL BALL.

GARDEN CITY MUTUAL AID ASSOCIATION ENTERTAINS MANY IN ARMORY HALL, NEWTON.

The fourth annual ball of the Garden City mutual aid association, made up of employees of the Newton & Suburban street railway company, was held in Armory hall, Newton, Monday evening, and was a complete success.

Friends of the members from the different Newtons and surrounding places filled the handsomely decorated hall. Beginning with an orchestral concert, the evening's entertainment included a grand march and dancing.

S. J. Reeves was floor marshal, W. B. Taffie floor director, C. Fogwell and J. P. Timoney assistants and the following were aids: A. L. Moriarty, W. Bailey, H. Nelson, W. Kiley, J. Hendricks, W. H. Wilson, W. Blackwell, G. Sundling, W. Hazlett, W. Trask, W. Kimball, J. J. Kivlehan and C. Andrews.

The committee of arrangements was made up of S. J. Reeves, A. L. Moriarty, J. J. Kivlehan, G. Sundling, W. Kiley, W. A. Trask, W. J. Hazlett, C. K. Fogwell, W. H. Wilson, W. B. Taffie, W. Bailey, A. J. Dolan, A. Conner, W. J. Blackwell, J. P. Timoney, H. S. Nelson, W. Kimball, E. C. Spring, C. W. Andrews and J. Lendrick.

Verdi and His Admirer.

Verdi was once traveling in the same railway carriage with General Tournon, commander of the Ravenna district. They got into conversation, which soon turned on the subject of music, and the general, who did not know his companion, expressed a most enthusiastic preference for that of Italy. "I can hardly go so far with you," replied the other. "For me, art has no frontiers, and I give German music the preference over Italian."

"Indeed, sir," said the general testily. "For my part, I would give all the German operas in the world for one act of 'Il Trovatore.'"

"You really must excuse me from following you any further on this ground," replied the composer, blushing a little. "I am Verdi."

The Chief Sense.

All the great families of living things have a dominant sense. We lead our life by sight and make artificial lights to render darkness tolerable. But the creature whom next to ourselves we prefer, the dog, lives in a very different universe. His dominant sense, like that of many other quadrupeds, is the very one we most neglect, the sense of smell. The dog will track his master, never lifting up his head to search the distance; often with hair falling over his eyes he follows on, not troubling himself to shake it aside.

Goldfish.

It may not be generally known that there is cruelty in the keeping of goldfish. Half of such captives die from sheer want of rest. As fish have eyes so formed that they cannot endure the light, in a glass vessel they are in an entirely wrong place, as is evident from the way in which they dash about and go round and round until fairly worn out.

THE SAVIOUR'S BLOOD.

A Relic of the Crucifixion Preserved at Bruges.

Many cities profess to possess as a relic some of the blood of Christ, preserved from that which flowed from him during the crucifixion. St. Louis brought particles to Paris which he had received from the emperor of Constantinople. The Church of St. John Lateran, in Rome; the Imperial monastery at Weingarten, a church in Mantua and the Chapel of the Precious Blood, in Bruges, all put forward similar claims.

The precious blood at Bruges enjoys the widest fame and is reported to have been collected from the Saviour's wounds by Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus when they took down the body from the cross. It was brought to Bruges by Thierry of Alsace in 1147. He had received it from his brother-in-law, Baldwin, king of Jerusalem.

Nearly six centuries ago the extraordinary devotion paid to this relic at Bruges by the inhabitants and visitors had induced the ecclesiastical and civil authorities to institute a solemn procession in which it should be borne in the streets.

A confraternity of the precious blood, consisting of thirty members, with a provost and four chaplains, was established to guard it at all times.

The procession takes place annually, and the blood, contained in a crystal cylinder and inclosed in its shrine, is carried about with much pomp and ceremony.

She Coxed In Vain.

He was a popular young dentist, with a clientele among the smart women, one of whom had been protesting for an hour that he was killing her. But he kept steadily at work with a soothing word occasionally, and as he said, "That will do for today," he added, "Now, I didn't really hurt you, did I, Miss V?"

"N-no," she admitted reluctantly. "but I always felt as if you were just going to."

"That is it," said he. "Now, there is one infallible sign for which a dentist always watches when he is working on a lady's teeth and which she gives involuntarily when she is hurt. She can't help giving it, and when I see it I always stop."

"Tell me what it is?" she inquired eagerly.

"We never tell," he replied, with an inscrutable smile.

"Why?"

"Because you would immediately try to counterfeet it!"—Washington Post.

"Dust Devils" of the Desert.

Travelers in the celebrated Death valley of California have described the wonderful contortions of the sand pillars that small whirlwinds sometimes send spinning across the hot plain. Even more remarkable are the "dust devils" seen by Mr. H. F. Witherby, the English explorer, in the valley of the White Nile. Sometimes two of these whirling columns, gyrating in opposite directions, meet, "and if they be well matched the collision stops them and a struggle ensues as to which way they shall twist. Gradually one gains the mastery, and the two combined begin to gyrate alike and then rush on together." Some of these whirls will strip the clothes from an Arab's back or twist a goat round and round like a top.

The Perfect Silence.

There is no sensation in the world like that which comes over you when walking through a grove of redwoods. Their great trunks rise hundreds of feet into the air and are lost in the dense roof of foliage like the columns of an Egyptian temple grown to superhuman height. On the ground there is no underbrush, but only ferns of a size and shape that suggest a prehistoric period and fallen trunks that have lain rotting for 3,000 years. There is no sunlight, and no birds sing. If a storm arises, it is an hour before a drop reaches the ground. Here all is as it was since creation, and there is no time. It is the perfect silence.

A Happy Thought.

"Yes, Jones struggled along with history plays and melodramas, but they wouldn't take. Now he has a wonder, a record breaker."

"You don't say! What's the plot?"

"I don't know, but the play ends in the middle of the last act."

"The mid-say, what are you giving me?"

"Straight goods. The idea is to fool the people who always begin putting on their wraps before the curtain falls."—Baltimore News.

Different Kinds of Cents.

"I am sorry I kept you waiting so long, Harry, dear," murmured the wife as she entered ready for the theater. "It took me so long to put on my coat."

"Did you put on only one coat?" he asked blandly.

She turned quickly and found his gaze resting on her cheeks.—Ohio State Journal.

She Drew the Line.

He—Won't you make up that quarrel, Miss Black, and 'low me to escort you home? You're too good a church member not to forgive dem what has offended you."

She—I forg'd dem, Mistah Johnson, but I don't 'low dem to escort you home.—Judge.

Her Hope.

He—When we get better acquainted, I shall call you by your first name.

She—All right. And I hope our acquaintance will reach the point where my friends can call me by your last name.—Chicago News.

There are people who never give away any milk until after they skim it, and then they want credit for cream.

We Know What

Is going to happen to the little boy who is stuffing himself with green apples. A grown man couldn't be induced to try that experiment; and yet the grown man will overload himself with indigestible food for which he will pay a greater penalty than colic. It is this careless and thoughtless eating which is the beginning of stomach trouble and all its painful consequences.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other forms of "stomach trouble." It restores the weak and run-down man or woman to sound health.

"Some time has elapsed since I have written you in regard to the treatment I have been taking under your instructions," says Mr. E. F. Cingmare of Minneapolis, Minn. "When first I commenced taking your remedies I was under treatment of a well-known specialist in this city (and had been for four months), for catarrh, and especially stomach trouble, and I was rapidly getting worse. Got so bad that I could not eat anything that did not distress me terribly, and I was obliged to quit taking the doctor's treatment entirely. I was greatly reduced in flesh. As a last resort, I wrote to you and stated my case, and, after receiving your instructions regarding hygienic treatment, I commenced your treatment, and I can say that I am well and never felt better in my life. Am very grateful to you for what your medicine has done for me."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

THE FIRST VETO.

Mayor Weeks' first veto message was sent to the board of aldermen last Monday evening on the proposition to allow the firemen one day off in every ten.

The premises upon which the mayor bases his reasons are sound and his arguments are logical and sensible. In only one respect does his Honor subject himself to reasonable criticism. Comparisons between Newton and other cities have hitherto proved valueless. The local conditions between two cities of equal population are often so utterly different that what is a reasonable or even an extravagant outlay for one would be entirely inadequate for another. This is especially the case where Newton is concerned on account of the scattered nature of its population, and the difficulties of inter-communication. The mayor himself recognized this very point in his inaugural address, when he stated that we have a plant of sufficient size for treble our present population.

Granting, however, that comparisons are odious, the final conclusions of the mayor that the firemen are well paid and well treated under the present system will appeal to the judgment of most of our citizens and particularly to the taxpayers.

THE BROWN TAIL MOTH.

A most effective method of exterminating the brown tail moth was that recently used in Lynn, where the Board of Trade offered money prizes to the various school for destroying the nests of the moth. Over 600,000 nests were thus destroyed through the efforts of the school children, and as the prizes were used for beautifying the school rooms, two good results were secured by the plan.

While Newton has no organization similar to a Board of Trade, it is not a matter which the various village improvement societies might take up and by stimulating a good spirited rivalry between different rooms of the local school, emulate the good example set by our sister city?

The Boston papers report the committee on election laws as favorable in part to the primary election plan of Representative Luce. The bill to be reported, it is said, requires primary elections for all city officers, for state senators and representatives whose districts are wholly within city limits, and for members of congress. If this rumor is correct a long step will be taken towards eliminating the political convention from Massachusetts. The representatives from Newton will then be nominated by direct vote, and the senator will still receive a convention nomination. While the latter is not wholly satisfactory, any change in nominating the senator from this district would be strenuously opposed by the men who now control the situation, and until Newton is freed from the antagonism of the western end of the district, when the new apportionment will be made in 1905, it is perhaps the part of wisdom to allow the present system to continue. In all other respects, however, the proposed change ought to be heartily favored by the city of Newton.

Senator Hoar's remarks on the proposition to elect United States senators by popular vote, do not in any sense represent the feelings of his constituents in this part of the state.

His argument that because our forefathers established the present method of choosing senators, is sufficient reason for never changing, does not coincide with modern theories of political action.

Massachusetts, in common with other states is heeding the wishes of the people and is breaking down all artificial barriers between them and their accredited representatives. Direct nominations and elections indicate the trend of modern politics, and the election of senators by direct vote is the most crying need of all.

Alderman Mellen's eloquent speech in seconding the resolutions to ex-Mayor Alden Spear at the last meeting of the aldermen was a fine tribute, beautifully expressed.

GIFT OF $300,000.

The president of the board of directors of Newton Theological Institution, William A. Munroe, announced Monday that the $300,000 toward the institution's endowment had been raised.

Of this sum John D. Rockefeller is to give $150,000 and the remaining $150,000 has been pledged by friends of the seminary.

Monday was the last day that subscriptions could be received, as Mr. Rockefeller had agreed to give dollar for dollar up to $150,000 for all that was raised prior to April 1. Monday morning $34,000 was lacking of the $150,000, but several large gifts of $5,000 each and one of $10,000, together with smaller donations, made up the total.

The men who canvassed the city Monday to raise funds were W. A. Munroe, Rev. Dr. N. E. Wood, Rev. George E. Horv, Rev. Charles A. Reese, Hon. Robert O. Fuller, Charles C. Barry, Benjamin E. Cole and O. M. Wentworth.

The institution had already raised $100,000 toward its endowment, so it will have a total of $400,000 added to its endowment as the result of the gifts of the last three years.

A fellow workman, not knowing this fact, set the machine in operation and the poor fellow was caught and very seriously injured. Dr. Gallagher of Newton was immediately summoned and had the patient quickly removed to the Newton hospital. It is said that he will recover.

Clubs and Lodges.

A whist party under the auspices of Newton Lodge, A O U W is to be given Tuesday evening.

An entertainment is to be given under the auspices of Newton Lodge in Odd Fellows' hall, West Newton, next Tuesday evening.

At the close of the meeting of Charles Ward Post 62 G. A. R., last evening, the members marched to the house of Conrad Horatio Carter on Austin street, Newtonville, for a social visit.

Newtonville, April 3, 1902. To the dear Comrades of Post 62 G. A. R., who this evening made me the delightful visit, bringing to me their words of sympathy and good cheer, I would tender my heartiest thanks. It will be to me and mine, a loving remembrance as long as life shall last. "Blest is the tie that binds," the hearts of the Veterans of 66-5 to each other. We feel it, and know its power, but we can never describe to those who never stood on the lonely picket post, never waited in line of battle for the order to "charge," which we knew was coming, never long sick in hospital so far away from loved ones, who could have nursed us back to health, never passed through the dark days of the war, when it seemed that the end would never come, never felt the terrible home sickness. These things can only be the remembrance of those who experienced them. What veteran would give up the blessed consciousness that in the struggle to save this dear land of ours, he was able to bear his part, small though it may have been, for anything that this world can give?

Yours in F. C. & L.,
Horatio Carter.

Resolutions.

At a special meeting of the trustees of the Westborough Insane Hospital, held in Boston, Thursday, March 27th, by reason of the death, March 22nd last, of Honorable Alden Speare of Newton, chairman of the board, it was RESOLVED, That the trustees have learned with sincere sorrow of the death of Mr. Speare, a sorrow personal to each member. Appointed a trustee of this hospital by Governor Greenhalge in 1894, he at once gave in its behalf conscientious, painstaking and intelligent service; and as chairman of the board, in recent years, became deeply interested in the plans which, under his direction, have resulted in the enlargement of the hospital and its better equipment for the care of the insane. Recalling his responsible and important service, his associates bear testimony to his faithfulness in all duty, his devotion to his trust as a sacred obligation, his fearless independence of conviction, his sagacity and judgment in affairs. They also recall his human interest and his ready sympathy for the suffering, and the record of his sense of his personal faithfulness and the considerate courtesy of his bearing.

RESOLVED, That copies of this vote be sent to members of his family, also that a copy be sent to the Governor of this Commonwealth.

RISTORI AS A DIPLOMAT.

Now the Great Actress Won Gortchakof to Her Cause.

Ristori was charged with the mission of bringing round Prince Gortchakof to the side of Italian duty when she went in 1890 to a play at St. Petersburg. As the court was in mourning she was commanded to come and recite "Maria Stuarda" at the Winter palace. Mme. Ristori recited her great part and electrified the court. The czar shed tears.

After she retired from the room where the imperial party was to a salon filled with courtiers, the czar brought up Prince Gortchakof and presented him. He had something to say about the emotional character of Ristori's recitation. He wondered how she could have been so deeply stirred by the sufferings of one who had perished so many centuries ago.

"I was not thinking of her," cried Ristori. "I was thinking of a living and discredited martyr, supposed to be dead, but living. I was thinking of my beloved Italy. I wanted, under the image of Maria Stuarda, to represent to the minds of their imperial majesties the cause of Italian independence and unity, and I think they vibrated in unison with my patriotic efforts. I now want to convert you, prince, for I am afraid you think that Italy must not be resuscitated, though she has risen as if from the dead and is full of life, energy, hope."

Gortchakof answered in diplomatic commonplaces. At length he appeared moved by Ristori's eloquence and said: "I promise to refer the matter to his imperial majesty. You have not pleaded in vain."

Ralph Waldo Emerson's Speech.

There is an old tradition that tells how Ralph Waldo Emerson, the Sage of Concord, once went on a wild, reckless spree. Weary of Marcus Aurelius, Alcott and the serene heights of Concord, he resolved to make a plunge into the vortex of crime and folly in a great city to see vice and the vicious at close range and thus learn by experience of the underworld.

He went straight to the saloon of one Brigham in Boston, in those days famed among Harvard students as the aboriginal inventor of more "fancy drinks" than any one since the days of Father Bacchus. Bewildered by the festive scene and the endless list of beverages he had never heard of, he asked Brigham which one of the whole bibulous catalogue might be relied on to impart the largest sum total of experience in the shortest possible time, to which devout inquiry genial Brigham, who at once took in the situation, is said to have replied, "Oh, I guess a glass of lemonade would be the right thing for you!"—Boston Herald.

Supplied the Want.

A certain writer while in San Francisco visited the new house of an old friend, a gentleman of Irish extraction. The hostess evidently took great pride in the house, the furnishings of which were new and beautiful and gave every evidence of taste and refinement. The writer, who has an eye for the beautiful, gave unstinted praise to everything he saw.

"But," he said, "I am sorry to see that your house, beautiful as it is, lacks one ornament which no Irish house should be without."

"What is that?" she asked unsuspiciously.

"A pig," replied the writer, with a satisfied chuckle.

The hostess' eyes sparkled.

"It did," she said indignantly, "but you have supplied the want."—New York Times.

English Names For Towns.

Many names of towns in England have been appropriated for a similar use in this country. These names frequently indicate in themselves the origin of the towns. For instance, names ending in "chester" or "cester" or "caster," such as Dorchester, Worcester and Lancaster, undoubtedly apply to sites of old military settlements or camps, and the termination is derived from "castra," the Latin word for camp. If the name of a place ends in "coln," like Lincoln, then it, too, is of Roman origin, because the Latin word for colony is colonia. When the syllable "by" ends the word, like Rugby, we then know that the Danes are responsible for the name, for the Danish word for town is by.

Judicial Differentiation.

Dipper (at wayside tavern)—That was Judge Close, who just took a solitary at the bar; know him, I suppose.

Tipper—Oh, fairly well.

Dipper—Exacting fellow. I owed him a small bill at one time, and, being tied up at the time, I went to him for a little indulgence, and he wouldn't even give me thirty days.

Hardense (interposing)—Excuse me, gentlemen, but I had a little different experience. I didn't owe him anything, and he gave me seven years.—Boston Courier.

Peculiarities of the Opossum.

The American opossum is one of the most curious animals living in the United States. It is the only one that carries its young in a pouch like the kangaroo. It is the only animal that can feign death perfectly. It is remarkable for hanging by its tail like a monkey. It has hands resembling those of a human being. Its snout is like a hog's, while its mouth is liberally furnished with teeth. Its eyes are like a rat's, and it hisses like a snake.

Too Attractive.

"Now, here," said the salesman, "is a very fine umbrella. The handle, you will observe, is especially attractive."

"That's just what I want to avoid. Every umbrella I ever owned has been entirely too attractive."—San Francisco Post.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty-four hours," says Mrs. Mary Haller, of Mt. Crawford, Va. ## Literary Notes.

Oswald G. Villard opens the April Atlantic with "The New Army of the United States," an account of the reorganization of our army system, accompanied by a generous appreciation of what Secretary Root is doing and procuring done to bring our army into a state of modern efficiency. John W. Foster treats Pan-American Diplomacy apropos of the recent convention in Mexico. He discusses the rise and progress of the South American nations, our relations to them, their attitude towards us, and the prospects of the future. Elizabeth McCracken contributes "The Play and the Gallery"—a remarkable review of the effect of the stage on the daily lives and characters of those who frequent the theatre gallery to see not the actors but the play and who treasure up the lessons there learned. Paul G. Huston contributes "The Day's Work of a Forester," a noteworthy paper upon the government's work of reclaiming and preserving our national forests.—a practical account, touched likewise with poetic insight and an aesthetic charm. Frank Gaylord Cook discusses "Oliver Ellsworth and Federalism"—a well-deserved tribute to the career of the man, who, strangely almost unknown to fame, was nearly if not quite the foremost agent in forming our present constitution and supporting and defending it after adoption, and who may well be called "The Father of American Federation." "An Athenian," who "confesses" that he is a citizen of "the finest state in the union," "Western of course," contributes "Our State University," in which he humorously describes and displays the idiosyncrasies of such institutions,—their pupils and managers, and the treatment apt to be meted out to them by their state authorities. George W. Cable continues his brilliant novellette, Hyloë Hill, while Mortimer O. Wilcox and Anna N. Benjamin contribute attractive short stories, and W. K. Lighton writes entertainingly of Omaha, its history, its achievements and its attractions. Bliss Curman furnishes a noble and imaginative poem, "The Pipes of Pan," and J. E. Spingarn a notable "Prothalamion." On literary topics, Agnes Rep-plier treats the and short life of little Allegra, Byron's much-loved daughter, and Ferris Greenlet the works of Jane Austen. Other book reviews, and, last but not least, the Contributors' Club, complete the number.

The "National's" April frontispiece are full page engravings of William Henry Moody of Massachusetts, the new secretary of the navy, and Senator William Boyd Allison of Iowa, the dean of the American Senate. The "National" has also portraits of half a hundred other men and women of current celebrity, including a large number of excellent snap shot photographs of Prince Henry and his American entertainers. Notable among the general illustrations are four reproductions of the famous Philippine war paintings of Vereschagin the Russian who has recently been exhibiting his canvases at Chicago. The Stage department has large portraits of a dozen or more of the stars and beauties of the theatre. There is a full page portrait of John W. Hutchinson of Lynn the last survivor of the famous Hutchinson family of war-time singers and a page engraving of a hitherto unpublished portrait of Abraham Lincoln. In all there are over a hundred illustrations nearly all of which are of current news interest.

"What Women Like in Men" "What Men Like in Women" and "Husbands and Wives" are the titles of a series of very interesting papers by Bedford Pike, the third of which appears in The Cosmopolitan for April. The same number of The Cosmopolitan treats of Prince Henry's visit with a series of beautifully printed photographs under the title of "A Clever Emperor and a Confederation of Nations." F. Hopkinson Smith, Israel Zangwill, Bret Harte and Maarten Maartens are among the other contributors to this number, which is unusually good in action.

One of the most artistic and useful souvenirs we have ever seen is a little celluloid-covered "encyclopaedia" entitled "Chic" Helps and Hints. It contains a vast amount and variety of useful information interesting to every one such as "Antidotes to Poisons," "What to Do in Accidents and Emergencies," "Birthdays," "Household Hints," "Don'ts," "Language of Flowers," "Toilet Recipes," "To Remove Stains," etc., etc. Calendars for 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905 and information on a dozen or more other topics with handy places for "stamps," "memoranda," "addresses," etc. Any of our readers can secure a copy free by mentioning this paper and sending name and address with two-cent stamp to the publishers, Chichester Chemical Co. 2315-2319 Madison Square, Philadelphia, Pa. Send for it.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

Tremont Theatre—On Monday next Mrs. Fiske will open the second week of her remarkably successful engagement at the Tremont Theatre, with the first presentation in Boston of "Miranda," Anne Crawford Flexner's dramatization of A. E. W. Mason's novel, "Miranda of the Balcany." The opportunities for a play in the book have been more than realized by Mrs. Flexner. Mrs. Fiske's portrayal of Miranda is notable, not only for its naturalness and power, but also for its keen introspective study of a complex character. The settings are unusually picturesque and beautiful, and Mrs. Fiske's gowns are triumphs of the dressmakers' art. "Miranda" will be followed on Thursday evening by a revival of Ibsen's "A Doll's House," that will assuredly rank as one of the most important dramatic events of the season, as Mrs. Fiske's Nora has been accepted as the most convincing and artistic example of the art of acting that this generation has seen.

BEN HUR: EXTERIOR OF THE CIRCUS AT ANTIOCH.

Colonial Theatre—So much has been said about Klaw & Erlanger's production of "Ben Hur," which is now at the Colonial Theatre, in Boston, that it would seem superfluous to repeat again in terms of general praise. The vast panorama of science and mechanic effects is the unquestioned centre of interest, and it is the great number and variety, and a superior excellence of the whole series that make the entertainment what it is—an unparalleled success of the kind. The performances of "Ben Hur" begin promptly at two o'clock at the matinees, 7.45 o'clock at the evenings. There is no overture by the orchestra and it is necessary for patrons to be seated at a quarter to eight to see the most impressive picture of the great play.

Pale Faces

tell when Vinol is needed.

We gladly refund money paid for Vinol if it does not give satisfaction. We know it makes rich, red blood and pale, weak women and children strong and rosy.

How Vinol Helped Mrs. Hindle.

"Count me one among the thousands of people who can say from experience that Vinol is a splendid tonic and builder. For some time my health had been failing until I got so weak I could do no housework and was compelled to break up housekeeping. I tried different patent medicines, but seemed to get no better. I had heard of the virtues of Vinol. I decided to try a bottle of Vinol. I had taken only a few doses of Vinol before I felt a change for the better. I continued with the medicine and it helped me. My appetite improved. I felt my strength returning. I never before saw such a remarkable tonic as Vinol; it seems to reach out to every part of the body. Then, too, it is such an agreeably flavored medicine to take. Oh! It is splendid!"—Mrs. A. H. HINDLE, Thaxter's Court, Bangor, Me.

A Boy Cured of Hanging-on Cough by Vinol.

"My boy had a very bad cough, has always had it every winter since he was a little child. Have tried several kinds of remedies but never got such good results as from Vinol. He took one bottle of Vinol and cough is entirely gone. Something unknown before. I think Vinol deserves great praise for the work."—ARON O. MASON, Biddeford, Me.

Vinol is such a simple and wholesome remedy that it is hard to believe it has such curative power—yet we know its value so that we unreservedly endorse it for tired, run down and nervous women and business men, and it is a fine tonic for weakly children and old people.

Save The Trees.

Take the nests of the brown-tail moth from the trees and burn at once.

The caterpillars will begin to crawl soon, and it will then cost ten times as much to save your trees. Trees that lose their foliage three years in succession usually die.

Property is depreciated by loss of trees. Disease is fostered by neglect to remove nests.

Thousands are made sick by the minute, barbed hairs of the caterpillars, which fly in the air and penetrate the skin like fish-hooks.

Dr. E. P. Stevens says: "In my whole experience I have never known so great an amount of suffering from a cause which was preventable."

The person who neglects to remove the nests of the brown-tail moth from property which he owns, keeps what is a menace to the health of the neighborhood. Will you remove the nests from the trees at your home and burn them?

Young Men's Club

The sixth annual banquet of the Young Men's Club of Eliot church was held Wednesday evening in the church parlors. More than 50 members and guests were present. Among those invited were Rev. Dr. Davis, T. Weston, Sr., H. E. Cobb, C. S. Ensign, E. O. Childs, Sr., F. A. Day and D. W. Farquhar. John N. Eaton, president, was the toastmaster and called for the following toasts:

"Ideas and Ideals," Dr. Wm. H. Davis; "Reminiscences," William T. Coppings; "The Mean Way," Arnold Scott; "Our Wives, our Sweethearts and other Lady Friends," Edwin O. Childs, Jr.; "The Growing Boy," Fred L. Trowbridge; "Single Blessedness," William Kellogg; "Sox, Joax and Poax," Ethelbert V. Grabbill, and "Healthful Hobbies," Guy B. Haskell. Several of the guests also spoke.

The Entertainment Club

The Entertainment Club's fine reputation for good amateur theatricals was worthily maintained Wednesday evening when they delighted a large audience of friends with the four act farce, "A Crazy Idea."

With the exception of some very awkward lovelacing (which the audience enjoyed hugely), the play moved with commendable smoothness and was finely staged.

The interest of the audience centered upon the part taken by Mrs. Brown, and it is no reflection on the rest of the cast to say that Mrs. Brown acted and dressed the part of a domineering shrewish wife, to perfection.

Mrs. Emery's make up, costumes and acting as a comic opera singer were also very good, and showed a fine conception of the character. Mr. Wright and Mr. Bentley, as usual took the chief male roles and did their customary conscientious work.

Mr. Flinn, as the colored boy, was capital and Mr. Bixby's nervousness seemed more than artificial.

The minor parts were also well done, and great credit is due the club for its good work.

The addition of electric lighting on the stage was a vast improvement over former productions and the effort of the club to extend the electric lighting throughout the church parlors deserves encouragement.

The music by Owen's orchestra was a feature of the evening which did not receive the encouragement it so well merited.

Whist for the Monomoy Fund.

Through the liberality of Landford C. C. Butler of the Woodland Park Hotel, Auburndale, a successful whist party was held in the parlors of that popular hostelry last Monday evening for the benefit of the Monomoy relief.

There was animated play at 37 tables and while no prizes were awarded some exceptionally high scores were made. The five top scores were those of Miss Fox, Mr. Philip Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Warren and Mrs. H. H. Hunt.

$125. was realized and the committee in charge, Mrs. Charles H. Stacy, Mr. Henry H. Hunt and Mrs. Edwin A. Knight, were much delighted with the result of their efforts.

INDOOR PRIZE DRILL.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL BATTALION DISTINGUISHED THEMSELVES BY HIGHLY SATISFACTORY EXHIBITION.

The indoor prize drill of the High school battalion was held Saturday afternoon at 2.30 at the drill hall, Newtonville and was the most successful and best attended in years. More than 500 were present, including members of the school board, pupils and graduates of the school.

The battalion was in good form and each part of the exercises was satisfactorily executed. The maneuvers of both the junior and senior squads in their competition as well as the artillery squad evoked much praise. The program began with an assembly and company inspection followed by setting up exercises, commanded by Capt. C. W. Pratt; butts drill, Capt. R. W. Graves, captain, Sergt. Gammons; junior squad competition, Capt. R. L. Atwood; artillery squad, Sergt. Russell; senior squad competition, Capt. H. C. Daniels; and evening parade, Capt. G. M. Henderson. The judges in the prize competitions were Lieut. Col. G. H. Benyon, assistant inspector general; Lieut. Col. M. D. Clement, 5th regt. Infantry M. V. M., and Capt. Walter L. Sanborn, staff 1st brigade M. V. M.

The award of prizes followed the conclusion of the evening parade: Mr. E. E. Hardy of the school board presented private G. B. Marsh the Howard medal as winner of the junior squad competition; privates P. S. Harrington and S. E. Rand were given honorable mention.

In the senior squad competition Sergt. A. Bacon was awarded the Fiske medal and corporals D. N. Nicholson and E. Robinson received honorable mention.

The drill was followed by dancing in which a large number of the battalion and their guests participated. The floor was in charge of H. H. Cheney, F. L. Nagle, Jr., C. W. Pratt, R. W. Graves, H. L. Atwood, G. M. Henderson and P. W. Hinds. The roster: Capt. H. C. Daniels, adjutant; W. Lovell, sergt. major; H. H. Cheney, Lieut.; C. P. Slocum, qm. sergt.; P. Brickett, color sergt.; Co. A. Capt. F. ## Good for Rheumatism.

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman.

After two applications of this Remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle, was completely cured.—Sallie Harris, Salem, N. J. For sale by all druggists.

Death Comes Always as a Shock.

Its advent may have been looked for, its results anticipated, but never can we overcome the striking force of the blow. Never was this truer than in the death of our late Brother, Alden Speare.

When he bade good bye on his last Sunday with us, of course we expected his return. Even though his illness of a year ago had given us warning of what at any time might be expected.

The date of his return with his accustomed regularity of movement had been set, and the next day, which would have been Sunday, April 13, would have seen him in his seat at church. We even planned for his home coming, deferring some business matters to await his judgment. We cannot yet realize that he has gone, that we shall not see him Sunday after Sunday, that we shall not have the benefit of his counsel, the strength of his helpfulness, the wisdom of his leadership.

We have lost our foremost member and we are indeed bereft. We, who have been so closely associated with him in the intimacies of our home church cannot but recall his vital interest in us and in the work from its inception.

He began with its life in the humble quarters in which it took up Christ's work in this place, and by his presence, his prayers, his labors, his gifts, he has been a constant inspiration to his associates and a power for good to all with whom he came in contact.

We are grateful for his life among us, we recognize his sterling qualities, his downright honesty, his generosity and his faithful devotion to the interests of our church life.

We recognize and are proud of the strong influence emanating from him in the wider circle of the world's work, brought about by careful study, business sagacity, deep convictions and intense loyalty.

We admire the deep devotion displayed to those nearest and dearest to his heart, as we have seen and know something of what has been given in fullest measure in the sacredness of the home.

Our hearts go out in tenderest sympathy to the loved ones of the family circle, as they only knew the depth, the sweetness and loving faithfulness of his inner nature, so they only know the greatness of their loss.

They have our love in unstinted measure. We pray for them that in this trying hour, they may more deeply know the loving fatherhood of the Almighty Father, and that the peace of God, which passeth understanding, may be their comforting possession.

We pray for the church that the bonds of Christian fellowship may by this bereavement, be strengthened in all our hearts.

An expression of feeling adopted as its own, by the official board of the Newton Centre Methodist Episcopal church, at a meeting Friday evening, March 28, 1902, commemorative of the late Hon. Alden Speare.

Messrs. Editor of Newton Graphic:

I would like to say a word about the practice of sending these common garden seeds by the congressmen to their constituents, "free gratis for nothing." I received my quota last week and would not be hired to plant them. The seeds are supplied by some firm in the West by government contract. I don't think that Representative Powers needs such stuff to repair his fences. Certainly the intelligence of the people of Newton is insulted by receiving such trash.

Washington Letter.

April 7, 1902
On Thursday the Senate passed the oleo-margarine bill including the Harris amendment by a majority of eight votes. On Friday Senator Mitchell of Oregon opened the debate on the Chinese exclusion bill with a carefully prepared speech. This measure will doubtless occupy some time.

"The question of an isthmian canal will be considered at this session," said Senator Allison when I asked him as to the chances for canal legislation. "I am not prepared to say what will be the decision of the Senate," continued the Senator, "but the bill will not be left in committee. The Senate will take some action. As Senator Allison is chairman of the republican steering committee his statement is particularly authoritative. Senator Hale, whom I saw later in the day, remarked with a twinkle in his eye, "You newspaper men remind me of the man who wrote to the justices of the Supreme Court, when that body was about to consider the income tax law, and asked each what would be his decision. The steering committee is not a public committee. It is a private political organization, but you go first to one member and then to another, asking each his opinion, and before we know it, you know more about the program of the committee than the committee knows itself." "But the case is not analogous," I replied. "The man had nine stern justices to interrogate, while I have but one genial Senator." "But the genial Senator does not propose to give away any state secrets," the Senator replied laughingly. However, notwithstanding the Senator's incommunicativeness, the program now contemplated by the committee, though not officially adopted, will, as predicted in a former letter, place the Philippine bill immediately after the Chinese exclusion bill. It, in return, will be followed by the Cuban reciprocity bill, and then the isthmian canal will be considered. The various appropriation have not yet been placed but will be taken up as opportunity offers. The Indian appropriation bill, having been considered during the "morning hour," passed Saturday.

Present indications are that the Cuban reciprocity bill will meet with a stormy reception in the Senate. The democrats have formally notified Senator Platt of Connecticut that they will oppose the measure and one republican Senator has also given notice that he will move to amend it so that the President shall be authorized to make reciprocal concessions to Cuba only after the negotiation of a treaty with the new Cuban government confirming the provisions of the Platt amendment.

When the Ways and Means committee adopted the Cuban reciprocity bill last Monday it was by a vote of 11 to 5 with three democrats voting "Nay." One of these, Mr. Newlands, tells me that his views are gaining strength on the floor of the House and that there will be found many democrats who will vote against the bill, which comes up for consideration tomorrow. Little apprehension is felt, however, by the House leaders, for the fate of the bill, and they predict that it will be passed within three days. Representative Dalzell said yesterday, "I consider the success of the measure in the House is assured."

On Wednesday the House passed the Sundry Civil bill and on Thursday the Senate bill to promote the efficiency of the Revenue Cutter Service. Friday and Saturday were devoted to a consideration of the Chinese exclusion bills, a majority and a minority measure. The democrats have very generally aligned themselves on the side of the minority measure as have some republicans. The difference between the two is not great and consists chiefly in methods rather than in purpose. Many of the Pacific coast members will support the minority measure which is the more drastic in its provisions. Today should, by the rules of the House, be devoted to the affairs of the District of Columbia, but the chairman of the district committee will probably waive his rights in favor of the exclusion bill. There is some hope that this measure may be disposed of before tomorrow so that it will not be necessary to hold it over until after the consideration of the Cuban bill.

The investigation of the "secret report" of Captain Christmas, which cast reflections upon the honor of Congress, has degenerated into a farce and there is a general feeling that Representative Richardson has placed himself in a very ridiculous position by his resolutions demanding that the matter be investigated. A fair sample of the nonsense on which the report was based was given one day last week when the testimony developed that Christmas had agreed to pay $50,000 to a man named Knox, and had advanced $5 to bind the contract. "Because Knox said he knew a man who knew Senator Hanna," Christmas had also advanced $80 to one Walberg, "proprietor of the International Newspaper Agency," which agency supplied news to three small papers in New Jersey.

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic)

Boston, April 9
Within a week it is expected that morning sessions of the House will be inaugurated, and from that time on there will be no let-up in the effort to secure an early prerogative. A study of the journals and bulletins shows that there is still quite a difference between the record of this General Court and its predecessors in the matter of measures reported. There are 476 matters to be heard from, which is 155 more than was the case at a year ago this time.

Representative Bullard has a big fight upon his hands to reverse the vote of last week by which a bill was substituted for the adverse report of the railroad committee to provide for a maximum rate of two cents a mile on the railroads of the Commonwealth. The vote by which this result is reached is quite clearly a selfish one, for it is well known that the rates in the suburban district of Boston are now so low that the average rate for passenger fares is 1.75 cents per passenger a mile less than anywhere else in the United States. Mr. William H. Coolidge of Newton Centre, general counsel of the Boston and Maine railroad, has set an example for the other railroads by issuing a statement of the effect of the measure upon that system, which shows that had all the passengers upon the road last year who paid more than two cents, had their fares reduced to that sum, it would have reduced the earnings $645,542.09 leaving the net transportation earnings only $76,127.68. The supreme court of the United States in the Lake Shore and Michigan cases ruled that where a legislature fixed a maximum rate presumed also to be a reasonable rate the company had the right to insist that all persons should be compelled to pay alike, which, of course means that under conditions of this nature the reduction on long-distance traffic must be evened up by increasing the fares in the suburban district which are now far below the standard of two cents per mile.

Mr. Bullard, it will be recalled, made a remarkable fight against certain features of the bill to restrict the speed of automobiles upon highways a few weeks since. He pointed out the absurdity of the section which compelled a man operating an automobile to do certain particular things when a horse appeared frightened by the machine. The measure was enacted, notwithstanding his protest, but it struck a snag when examined by Governor Crane, who after holding it as long as he constitutionally could, notified its sponsors that it must be withdrawn from his hands and amended or else it would be vetoed. It was vetoed and the section was changed so as to permit the operator to use his judgment to a certain extent and also to permit him to proceed upon his journey when the horse appeared to be under control. Mr. Bullard's contention, was, therefore, fully vindicated.

Mr. Dana's committee on the judiciary adversely reported last week on five petitions of abettors for damages caused by the regrading of Mt. Vernon street near the arch of the State House. The committee consented to the change in the report from "leave to withdraw" to "reference to the next general court" and all the petitions have been so referred.

After a long delay, the House has concurred in the Senate amendments to a bill which will permit street railways in the future when making extensions, etc., to secure the approval of the issue of stock and bonds to cover the expense without the appraisal of their whole property. This measure was favored by Commissioner Bishop and his associates on the railroad board.

The metropolitan affairs committee is gradually closing up its work, but still has a large number of matters upon which reports must be made. One of these is the Baker petition that the appointment, management and control of the Boston police board be vested in the Mayor, which comes up for a further hearing tomorrow. The question of the control of advertising near public parks and parkways is still unsettled, as are all the compensation bills as to Clinton, Sterling and Holden. The question as to a change in the metropolitan water supply apportionments so as to place them upon the yearly consumption of water instead of upon the population in which Mr. Slocum is greatly interested for Newton, must still be reported upon and this is true also of the subway bills in which so many Newton members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Boards of Trade are interested.

The cities committee has still a number of matters to hear, one of these being the bill for the reorganization of the Newton board of assessors, which comes up for action tomorrow.

Although the judiciary committee closed its hearings long ago, Mr. Dana and his associates still have many weary days of executive session before them.

the table of the upper branch, the question being on ordering to a third reading. It will be recalled that Mr. Dana is one of the dissenters from the favorable report of the judiciary committee on this measure, as is also Senator Apsey.

Senator Skinner's committee on federal relations on Monday reported a bill ceding to the United States what is known as Bailey's hill in Nahant, as a site for certain Boston harbor fortifications. The committee gave a hearing Monday on the resolutions as to pensions to the sufferers from the Monomoy disaster, but concluded it was wiser to refer the matter over to the next General Court.

Mr. Dana's committee on insurance practically cleared its docket this week, reporting on Monday a bill to change the standard form of fire insurance policy.

The receivership for the New England Gas and Coke company is believed on Beacon Hill to be the forerunner of legislation to provide for the consolidation of the Boston gas companies. It is held to be significant that the request that the committee on public lighting delay action on the bill came from Hon. Robert M. Burnett, who has been appointed receiver of the coke company.

The committee on mercantile affairs has reported against both the telephone supervision bills, one of which was for the supervision of telephone companies alone and the other for supervision of both telephone and telegraph companies. The attitude of Congressman Powers echoed by his law associates, that all companies for the transmission of intelligence by electricity should be supervised or none, was conclusive, apparently.

PERFUMES AND HEALTH.

How Flower Scents May Be Obtained in Three Ways.

Pure violet essence is said to be especially suitable to nervous people, but it must be obtained from the flowers themselves, not from the chemical imitations. Chemically derived perfumes are irritant, poisonous even, to persons of especially sensitive constitution.

True flower scents are obtained in three ways—first, by spreading fresh blossoms upon glass thickly smeared with pure grease, letting them stand in the sun and as they wilt replacing them until the grease is as fragrant as the flowers; second, by repeatedly infusing fresh petals in oil, and, third, by infusing them in ether, which is then distilled to a dry solid.

As this solid sells for about $250 an ounce it is easy to understand why the ether process, though far and away the best, is not commonly used. But the scented grease and the essences made by steeping it in pure spirit are never cheap. After all the scent possible has been extracted from the grease it is still fragrant enough to make the very finest perfumed soap.

All the elixir scents, bergamot, neroli, orange flower water, are refreshing and in a degree stimulating if properly prepared. To make a lasting perfume some animal base is essential—musk, civet or ambergris.

Getting Into Moral Debt.

Philip D. Armour, millionaire and philanthropist, continually warned young men against getting into debt. He loved free men and despised slaves. When asked if he admired a certain brilliant orator, he said: "He may have a superb voice and fine presence, but can't you hear the rattle of his chain? That man is not free. He is under moral obligations that demoralize him. He is not speaking the deepest thing in his soul, and I haven't time to hear any slave talk. I want a man to be just as free as I am."

On another occasion he said: "Don't get into debt—I mean moral debt. It is hard enough to get into debt financially. There goes a young man who is mortgagee. That young man is logging it along with a debt, and it will take twice as much power to get him along as the man without a debt. There are other debts and obligations that are embarrassing in their entanglements. Don't get into debt morally, my boy; don't get into debt so that you may not exercise your freedom to its limits."

Mirth is an almost infallible sign of good health. A sick woman may force a smile or at times be moved to laughter. But when a woman is bubbling over with mirth and merriment she is surely a well woman.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has made thousands of melancholy and miserable women cheerful and happy, by curing the painful womanly diseases which undermine a woman's health and strength. It establishes regularity and so does away with monthly misery. It dries debilitating drains and so cures the cause of much womanly weakness. It heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures the bearing-down pains, which are such a source of suffering to sick women.

I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for female weakness," writes Mrs. Susannah Perseus of Pauls Store, Shelby Co., Texas. "I was troubled with bearing-down pains in my back and hips for six years, and I wrote to Doctor Pierce for advice. I tried his 'Favorite Prescription' and six bottles cured me. I feel like a new person and I thank Dr. Pierce for my health. Life is a burden to any one without health. I have told a great many of my friends about the great medicine I took."

BUSINESS VS SENTIMENT

The action of the aldermen last Monday evening in refusing to sustain the Mayor in his veto of the order granting firemen one day off in every year, is one of those inexplicable occurrences which sometimes happen without apparent rhyme or reason.Reduced to its final essence, the issue drawn between the Mayor and the aldermen is plain, straightforward business principles on one side and an unreasoning, short-sighted sentiment on the other.From the sound reasons urged by the Mayor against this proposition
there was no escape, the arguments in opposition mainly criticizing the comparative figures which entered but little into the real merit of the veto.As the result of this action, we learn that the police will now endeavor to also obtain some relief from their hours of duty and where the agitation will further lead is uncertain.

THE ASSESSORS.

The proposed legislative action on the reorganization of the assessing department has been boiled down to a very simple proposition.As the present law gives authority to the aldermen to the number of assessors, there is no necessity for agitating the question of whether the city needs four, seven or ten assessors before the legislature.There are strong reasons, however, why the executive should have some voice in determining the person in this department who is to have charge of the routine work of the office, and the administrative details of the department.And this is the sole object of the present petition to the General Court.
When this authority is obtained the aldermen can then determine the details as to number, and the reorganization will take effect on Feb. 1, 1903.

A CURFEW ORDINANCE.

The aldermen have granted a public hearing upon the proposition to establish a curfew ordinance in this city. Of course the advocates of the measure will urge its adoption, and it is doubtful if there is any opposition.If adopted it will add one more police regulation which are more often honored in the breach than in the observance.We do not believe that Representatives Bullard and Dana represent the sentiment of this city in their opposition to the direct election of U. S.
Senators by the people. Direct nominations and elections are popular in Newton.The street railway war is now transferred to Newton Centre, where the Worcester Co. and the Newton Company ask for locations on Cypress and Jackson streets.

Newton Education Association.

the parlors of the New Church, Newtonville, next Monday at 7.30 o'clock.

"Fifty Years' Experience in the Boston Schools."

A High Grade Piano.

Attention is called in another column of this paper to the celebrated Stieff pianos. These instruments are the embodiment of unsurpassed skill in the piano maker's art. They are used and endorsed by many of the leading artists of this country. This old reliable house of Baltimore, Md., has a reputation of sixty years. They have established Boston branch warehouses at 156 Tremont street, where the public is cordially invited to inspect these fine pianos.

Courageous Policemen.

Shortly before 7 Wednesday evening
a passerby discovered fire in J. T.
Bailey's paint shop, at 973 Watertown street, West Newton, and sent in an alarm from box 31.Patrolmen James Mullen, Richard Kyte and William Condrin hastened from headquarters, broke in the door and found some clothing on fire. Before the firemen arrived they had extinguished the flames, which were running along the walls and floors, and thrown the burning clothing into the street.All three had their clothing ruined, but as the wooden building contained much paint and oil and stood adjacent to other frame structures, a large fire was probably averted by their action.
The officers themselves escaped with slight burns.

The audience at once recognized her marked ability, and applauded her strongly after each solo. Mrs. Metcalf kindly responded both times, singing Nevins' "Mighty Lak a Rose," and "Comin' through the Rye." She possesses dramatic, as well as musical ability, and a suggestion of it was shown in her own unique way of singing "Comin' Through the Rye." Her songs were ably supported by Mr. Metcalf at the pianoforte."

HERE AND NOW.

EASTER MORNING THOUGHTS.

On Easter morning, at six o'clock and after, Farlow Hill was a grand and glorious temple, wherein to hold uplifting and peace-giving early communion with its divine Master-Builders and His works.

There were the tinted sunny skies, wide and noble views, sweet air and light, and the songs and motions of blue-birds and grey squirrels and other pretty creatures of light and morning.

By such natural, though in no wise unspiritual communion, one could be all the better prepared for the church's later, and more deeply spiritual, but by no means unnatural holy communion, founded on the sacredly unique and powerfully appealing events recorded in holy scripture.

There is danger and loss in the separation of love of nature and love of scripture. There should be communion with the Author of both, in and through both. Communion with nature, only, may become Godless.

Cloistered communion with scripture, only, to the irreverent neglect of nature, may lead to superstition. It may then well be thought that holy scripture is the text, of which nature is the highly illustrative book of plates. Each supplements the other.

United, they remind us that the same God who gives the words of life in both, gave us common sense, and our other faculties, with which to read both. Then let them stay united and be enjoyed together for our greater and better upbuilding.

II.

But in these times, many things press for attention. Do we always suitably distinguish between the two opposite and irreconcilable rival imperialisms? There is the sordid materialistic imperialism of brute force, represented by armies and navies, and vainly thinking to prematurely and mechanically force the mere external of civilization upon stunned, dazed, frenzied, paralyzed peoples.

Such imperialism is typified in nature by the unspeakably coarse and savage scavenger English sparrows, that (away with them), "feeling the instincts of their race," forth with proceed to drive away the divinely exquisite little blue birds (bless them.)

This imperialism is further typified in human life by Cain, Ahab, Clive, and by such as basely live by the vices, misfortunes and follies of their fellow beings.

In widest contrast to this sordid imperialism, there is the lofty, moral imperialism of noble character, typified by everything beneficent in nature, and represented in life by Moravians and their like, by the long line of the true and the good, from Abel and Joseph to Livingstone, Washington, and Lincoln, and by the Perry Japan expedition of 1853. To this imperialism a human face is a letter of introduction, which leads men of different race, history, traditions and gifts to sit down together as brethren; each having things to tell, to give, to share and to learn, united by step as the less advanced is able to bear it, and as the patient Divine Master led and trained His untamed and often misapprehending disciples, the less favored is at last truly uplifted to the great good of both.

III.

Nearly related to this heaven wide difference between noble and real, and base and false imperialism is true and false conventionalism. Conventionalism is agreement to do certain things in a certain way. It may embrace a whole people acting alike in certain things for the general convenience, as when postage stamps are put only on the right upper corner of a letter, though they would pay the postage wherever put; and announcing or recording a caller by a card. Such conventionalisms and many others, such as envelopes in place of the old elaborately folded wax or wafer sealed letters, are excellent. False conventionalism, by contrast, has little or no regard to any real benefit or advantage, originates in restless fickleness, craving for some badge of petty artificial or local or clique distinction, or of passing sensationalism. It is arbitrary, capricious and hence of no authority, it being a trespass on property self-respecting individuality and personal freedom. The less such conventionalism, anywhere, the better in behalf of the simplicity, reality, freedom, that dear New England was begun to stand for, and should ever steadfastly stand for.

THE KING OF PEACE.

No guard of honor kneels on either side,
No marble empire for him to command,
No gaudy glitter of a princely crown,
No massive scepter tires his august hand.

No burnished sword is hanging at his side,
No richly moulded palace throne has he,
No lutes to while away the lonely hours,
Nor craft to sail the blue depths of the sea.

His cares are not for joys of this bright life,
They would not cause his happiness increase,
But he has all that God could surely give,
He bides his life in silent prayer and peace.

Horse Show.

The Boston Horse Show which opens in Mechanics' building, on April 14, for a run of six days, promises in many ways, to eclipse any of the past shows held in that city.

The finest horse show horses in the country will be seen at their best in the ring, and more of them will be exhibited during the show week than ever before.

The success of the show is already guaranteed owing to the extra large entry, and from a social standpoint the successes of past years promise to be repeated. There will be three performances daily, at 10 a. m., 2 p. m., and 8 p. m.

For the Masons, an Entertainment.

This year the Masons offer as their annual entertainment a vaudeville to be presented by thirty young women of Newtonville under the direction of Miss Josephine Sherwood.

This vaudeville which will take place on April 17th and 18th is virtually the same one which Miss Sherwood directed a few weeks ago for St. John's parish.

It proved so popular a success at that time that there were many demands for the repetition which will now be given.

The program will consist of the play "Petticoat Perfidy" by Miss Sherwood, Miss Alden and Mrs. George; the song sheet chorus with solos by Miss Mabel Daniels of Brookline, who has been especially engaged for this occasion; the Dutch spinning wheel chorus and wooden shoe dance, with Miss Leslie Kyle as soloist; the Florida girls, led by Mrs. Osborne; the Japanese dolls, the coin song chorus, special dances and dialogues, and Miss Sherwood's impersonation of Boston.

"THE PLAYERS."

TWO SUBSCRIPTION PERFORMANCES AND ONE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SMITH COLLEGE FUND—"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY" CREDITABLY PRESENTED.

Careful, well mounted, and truly artistic presentations of the well known and highly amusing three-act comedy, "The Private Secretary" delighted audiences in Temple hall, Newtonville, Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings of this week.

The first two performances were given to members and their guests and marked the sixteenth season and thirty-sixth series. The play was repeated last evening for the benefit of the Smith College fund.

Upon each occasion the audience was of wide proportions. Keen appreciation of the good work of this very capable organization of amateurs was plainly evident.

The cast was well balanced and all the participants acquitted themselves admirably. Much praise is due Miss Catherine R. Hooper for her efficient work as acting manager and to Mr. F. H. Keyes and his assistant, Miss Jessie F. Root for their management of the stage.

The ushers were Mr. Harry L. Burrage, Mr. Francis Newhall and Mr. Henry Whitmore. The cast:

Mr. Marsland, Mr. A. L. Wakefield Harry Marsland, (his nephew)

Mr. Cattermole, Mr. G. R. Pulsifer Douglas Cattermole, (his nephew)

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

Tremont Theatre—The last week of Mrs. Fiske's remarkably successful engagement at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, will have a new element of interest in her revival next Monday evening of Sardou's delightful comedy, "Divorçons." There are plays that charm after an interval as truly as they did on their original production, and "Divorçons" is one of the few of this class. Mrs. Fiske impersonates Cyprienne with remarkable effect. Preceding "Divorçons," Mrs. Fiske will be seen in "Little Italy," a one-act tragedy, in which she exhibits a phase of her art in striking contradistinction to her Cyprienne. The play presents with extraordinary fidelity pictures of life and death in the Italian quarter of New York city. On April 21, Weber and Fields, with the all-star company from their famous music hall in New York, including Lillian Russell, De Wolf Hopper, Ray Templeton, Fritz Williams, John Kelly, Sam Bernard and other popular players will begin at the Tremont an engagement limited to six nights and two matinees. Following them, Frank Daniels and his big comic opera company will come back to the Tremont for a fortnight with his greatest success, Barnet's "Miss Simplicity."

Colonial Theatre—So much has been said at one time or another about the Klaw & Erlanger production of "Ben Hur," now running at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, that there is little left to write that savors of news. The play has reached the public as none other and has broken all records for business success. It is now in its closing weeks at the Colonial Theatre and all who have not witnessed this marvelous stage spectacle should not miss the opportunities afforded during the next three weeks as "Ben Hur" will close its engagement on April 26 and will be seen no where else in New England.

One gratifying feature of the remarkable success of "Ben Hur" is the fact that everybody concerned in its production is an American. Gen. Lew Wallace, the author; Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger, the producers; Mr. William Young, who dramatized it; Edgar Stillman Kelly, who wrote the music; Ben Teal, who staged it, and Claude Hagan, who invented many of the mechanical devices for the famous chariot race, are all American born.

Will some one please explain the "going to the theater face" of the average New Yorker? The question is suggested by a long experience in lobbies while the auditors are pushing into the houses for the evening performances. The writer stood for nearly an hour engaged in the seemingly hopeless task of discovering "the cheerful theater goer." But in they poured, men and women, each and every one with him set jaw, gloomy brow and the look of despair. Perhaps it is because the long distances traveled on crowded cars and the thought of an equally uncomfortable homeward journey make a night at the theater seem just a bit like work to the residents of this narrow Isle—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The interest in the closing weeks of the engagement of "Ben Hur" at the Colonial, is great and there is already a large advance sale.

Newton Hospital.

The regular meeting of the Newton Hospital Trustees was held in the parlor of the Nurses' Home on the 31st ult at 5 p. m., with the president, Hon. J. R. Leeson, in the chair, and members present, Messdames Bacon, Gould, Leonard, Lodge, Lowell, Morse, Nichols, Paine, Messrs. Day, Ellison, Hardy, Hutchinson, Weed, Doctors Hunt, Porter.

The treasurer's report was presented by the chairman of the finance committee, and gave receipts, since the annual report, as follows: income from endowment funds, $1,150; donations, $560.88; interest money, additional on Hospital Sunday collection, and free bed from the Ladies' Aid Association, $377.32; from care and treatment of patient, $2,325.24. Current expenses same time, $6,000 insurance and sundries, $180.47. The estimated cost of the new Thayer Ward is a little over fourteen thousand dollars. The fund for the rebuilding of this ward lacks about thirteen hundred dollars for its completion.

Dr. Hunt, for the executive committee, gave the number of patients in the Hospital 57, and noted the changes on the different working committees and staff as arranged for the present year. The sewer connection is completed, a marble floor for the sterilizing room ordered and will be laid without expense to the Hospital, and other details of the carrying on of the work were specified.

The new Thayer Ward is ready for use, and the new contagious ward nearly so; an opportunity for inspection of these buildings will be offered by a formal opening soon to be arranged.

The Training school board reported their regular meeting held, and satisfactory progress made in their department. After consideration of all necessary details of the work of the institution, the meeting was adjourned.

Church Mortgage Removed.

The annual banquet of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal church was held last Friday night in the parlors of the church at Newtonville, at which a mortgage of six thousand dollars on the church property was disposed of.

The banquet was in charge of William T. Rich and the toastmaster of the evening was Leon C. Carter, who opened the meeting and introduced Rev. William J. Thompson, the pastor, who is very much loved and admired by the parish, and when it was announced Mr. Thompson would return another year there was great applause. Rev. Mr. Thompson made a most able address.

This was followed by an address and the reading of the mortgage by Joseph C. Atkinson. It was then passed to Mr. Lodge, as the man who paid the first money, and from Mr. Lodge to Miss Blanche Gates, as the first lady who had paid any money. She touched a match to the mortgage which was held by Mary A. Runney, the mortgagee. This was a great feature of the evening, and it was one that was highly enjoyed by the entire gathering.

This was followed by a speech by Dr. Rishell. The next speaker was Mr. A. H. Soden.

Mr. J. B. Stuart of the B. & A. R. R. told about the signals of the railroad and the signals of life. The meeting was brought to a close with a witty speech by William T. Rich.

Letter to Henry Baily.

Dear Sir: Rockland, Maine, is a seacoast town; hard place for paint. About seventeen years ago Farrand, Spear & Co., Rockland, began with Devco. Their first sale was to paint the Farrington residence well known there.

Mr. Farrand says the house appears from the street to be well painted now and has never been repainted. We should like to know more definitely about a job of paint that has lasted seventeen years on a sea-side house. It is the longest time we have had a report on.

Lead and oil lasts three years—a first rate job—and nobody says it lasts longer. We are content to say that Devco lead and zinc lasts twice as long; but we know of houses innumerable, on which our paint has exceeded six years.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devco & Co.

Police Were Set Upon By Large Crowd.

Attempt To Rescue Prisoner The Cause.

The efforts of an angry crowd to rescue a man under arrest from the police was the cause of an incipient riot in Nonantum square early Sunday morning. There was indiscriminate slugging, bloodshed and a wholesale destruction of uniform and other clothing.

The principal participants were Patrolman Wade E. Dearborn, Sergt. John Purcell, Patrolman W. G. Bosworth and Fred Purcell on the one side and Joseph H. Thomas, Percy F. Thomas and Charles Thomas on the other. The latter trio had a good-sized mob to aid them.

It was shortly after 12 that Patrolman Dearborn met the three Thomases just as they alighted from a Boston car. Joseph Thomas was very drunk. The patrolman cautioned the brothers to take better care of Joseph, who was lurching against windows and appeared to be in a bad condition. Patrolman Dearborn charges that the young men disregarded his advice and that after he had let them pass the behavior of Joseph was of such a character as to warrant his arrest.

Near the corner of Washington and Bacon streets, Dearborn placed Joseph Thomas under arrest. The man fought desperately, he says, and his brothers attempted to rescue him.

Sergt. John Purcell was attracted to the scene and went to Dearborn's assistance. A crowd was gathering at this time, augmented by arrivals from the late Boston, Brighton and Cambridge cars.

So great was the interference that the officers and their prisoner made little headway towards the station. When Fred Purcell, who had come into the square from Watertown, arrived on the scene the scrimmage took a more serious turn.

Dearborn had his overcoat torn and examination later showed it was spattered with blood. Sergt. Purcell lost his hat and badge, and had his trousers torn.

The crowd rained blows upon the officers and some of these intended for the men in uniform reached the prisoner. The officers were forced to draw their clubs and strike right and left.

Near engine 1 Patrolman W. G. Bosworth entered upon the field and did some effective work. It was an up-hill fight for the police but they finally landed their man in police station 1.

City Physician Utley was summoned and took two stitches in Joseph Thomas' head, where he had been struck. Thomas was locked up for drunkenness and assault upon an officer.

At this time the police made no effort to arrest any other members of the crowd but did their best in dispersing the mob.

When Joseph Thomas was arraigned in court he pleaded guilty to drunkenness and not guilty to assault upon an officer.

Dearborn told his story which was substantially that given above.

In his defence Joseph Thomas declared he did not resist the police but was abused by them.

Judge Kennedy found Thomas guilty and fined him $15 for drunkenness and sentenced him to six months in the house of correction for assault upon an officer.

At this juncture of the trial a voice was heard directing the defendant to appeal. It afterwards proved to be Charles Thomas, a brother of the original prisoner.

Later Charles Thomas and Percy Thomas were arrested for interfering with an officer. They pleaded not guilty. Testimony for the government was given by Sergt. Purcell and Patrolman Dearborn.

Charles Thomas declared he did nothing to wrest his brother from the officers as his hands were full of bundles.

Percy Thomas said he asked the officers to club him and not his brother but did nothing more.

A young man named Thomas Fitzgerald, was called by the defence. He declared he saw the scrimmage and that the crowd members of the crowd interfered and not the defendants.

Percy F. was fined $35 and Charles Thomas $25. They paid. Joseph paid his $15 fine but appealed the other case.

Police Paragraphs.

Judge Kennedy presided at a busy session of the police court Saturday morning. Patrick J. Griffin arrested Friday by Patrolman Dugan, was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon on Patrick T. Culleton. The alleged offence was committed in a rubber mill at Newton Upper Falls, April 10. Griffin was found guilty and fined $25.

About 2 Saturday morning at West Newton Patrolman T. L. Dolan came upon James Wilson, aged 27, who gave his residence as East Boston. Wilson was very much excited when he met the officer, declaring that he was being pursued by two men who were after his money or life. That morning, in court, Wilson was complained of for vagrancy. It later developed after investigation at the court's request, that the man's real name was Richard Emmett and that he lived in East Boston, but at a different residence than he had given. His case was continued and his family notified.

William H. Robertshaw was fined $20 Saturday for the non-support of his wife.

D. R.

On Monday, April 14, the Sarah Hull Chaper, D. R., and guests were tendered a reception from 4 to 6 at the residence of the Regent, Mrs. Francis E. Stanley, 638 Centre street, Newton. Mrs. Stanley was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris, who was the founder of the Chapter five years ago, and Regent up to the present time. The buff and blue predominated in the decorations, and orchestral music was a feature of the entertainment. Light refreshments were served in the dining-room, the younger members of the Chapter assisting. During the afternoon Mrs. E. W. Howe, in a few well chosen words, on behalf of the members present, presented to Mrs. Ferris a silver loving cup as a testimonial of their love for her, and some beautiful roses to the retiring secretary, Miss Susan A. Whiting, as a slight recognition of the very efficient work she had done for the Chapter. The meeting was largely attended, Mrs. Mary A. Chapman, former state regent, being among the guests.

Good for Rheumatism

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman.

After two applications of this Remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle, was completely cured.—Sallie Harris, Salem, N. J. For sale by all druggists.

The Singers Concert.

The Singers gave their 2nd concert of this 7th season in Bray hall last Thursday evening before the usual large and fashionable audience. The Club had the assistance of Mrs. Grace Bonner Williams, soprano; Mr. Heinrich Schuecker, harpist; and Mr. Emery White, tenor. Mr. George A. Burdett conducted and Mr. A. J. Fairbanks presided at the piano.

The program was as follows:

PART I.

The Feast of Adonis, Jensen
Solos by Mrs. Williams,
Fantasie, Saint-Saens
Mr. Schuecker.
A Spring-Song, Burdett
The Way-Side Rose, Franz
May Song, Franz
O, Come, Let us Worship, Franz

PART II.

Up, Away! Nessler
May-Dew, Rheinberger
Serenade, Alvars
Mazurka, E. Schuecker
Love, Love, Mr. Schuecker
Alone, Thompson
Spring, Rotoli
Mrs. Williams.
The Night has a Thousand Eyes, Nevin
The Glory of God in Nature, Beethoven

It may have been owing to the depressing atmospheric conditions of the evening, or to the unavoidable absence of members from regular rehearsals, or possibly it may have been the mood of the critic, but something there certainly was that seemed to detract from the customary brilliant work of the club—not but what much of the music was well sung, but in many instances that clear cut enunciation and certain reliable attack, of leads, for which the club has become famous, was missing. Mr. Burdett worked like a Trojan, but his forces did not seem to catch his enthusiasm till late in the evening. In fact, the great Beethoven chorale, which closed the concert, was sung with an abandon and breath of tone that made one wish the program could have been started all over again. The familiar Piniati part song in the 1st half was well sung without accompaniment, and the light and shade nicely expressed. Likewise, the Nevin number, "The Night has a Thousand Eyes," in Part II. It should be remembered that much of the club's work was entirely without accompaniment, a feature that has not been followed to any great extent in recent concerts and which of itself is enough to cause shortcomings mentioned above. The very fact that in every case the club adhered strictly to the true pitch, notwithstanding the number of stanzas, should be a most encouraging incentive for future work in this direction.

Of the soloists, Mr. Schuecker's masterly playing of the harp aroused universal enthusiasm. Truly a beautiful instrument—and one too seldom heard in concert, especially when played by such an artist. He was encored again and again.

Mrs. Williams was a new comer to our city, and in addition to a petite and pleasing personality, she displayed a voice of much natural warmth and beauty, not as spontaneous perhaps as one might wish, but possessed of a beautiful legato, a style of singing to which she strongly adheres and for which she is to be thanked. Her songs, while containing nothing startling in the way of electrifying high notes, or brilliant roudelles, were sung with a charming simplicity of style that many of our older singers might well copy, and the audience was most cordial and hearty in its appreciation. Her encore numbers were gems in their way. She is truly a very restful singer, which is compliment enough, and is to be hoped she can again be heard at some future concert.

Mr. Fairbanks' accompaniments were just what everyone who knew him expected—brilliant and thoroughly artistic in every way. The club has reached a crucial stage in its existence and one in which proper support was never more necessary to make its work equal to any mixed chorus of its size in existence. Let us hope that our music-loving and public-spirited citizens will see to it that the list of associate members is filled to its limit the coming season and the concert awaited, as they always are, with increasing interest.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty-four hours," says Mrs. Mary Haller, of Mt. Crawford, Va. This Remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Miss Martin's Debut.

From the Louisville, (Ky.) Times, Apr. 10.
The large and critical audience that greeted the Philharmonic Society last night was thoroughly pleased. The first appearance here of Miss Josephine Martin was naturally an event of interest. Her voice is a mezzo-contralto of pleasing quality and graceful delivery. Her selections covered a wide range and she showed herself a thoroughly capable singer. She is simple and unassuming in manner, with an attractive stage presence, and the sincerity and refinement of her art are evident.

From the Courier-Journal.

Miss Martin's voice has clarity of tone and is particularly rich in its lower notes. She sings with good method and her enunciation is admirable.

Letter to Stanley Brothers.

Newton.
Dear Sirs: You are a maker; so are we. You know what you make; you know all about it. We know our paint as you know your goods.

We know what it is, how it acts, what it does, how it lives, and how long—the conditions being favorable or unfavorable.

It is fair that we take the risk of it every way; but we ought not to risk any use or abuse of it.

Can't draw the line. We are dealing with strangers. We are strangers to them as they are strangers to us.

We want to be trusted by them. We trust them first; that's the way to get trusted.

We trust them to a fair degree of common painting knowledge and care. We expect to be trusted to furnish paint as good as paint can be, and to last as long as paint can.

If you do your business that way, you are a fellow with us and one of a thousand.

A few mean men in the course of a year will abuse our trust and put us to loss; but 999 in 1,000 will tell their friends how true we are, and our point is, "That's what has made us the largest paint concern in the world." It is our best advertisement.

Yours truly,

P. W. Devco & Co.

P. S. J. M. Briggs & Son sell our paint.

Concert of the Newton Choral Association.

The second and closing concert of the season by the Newton Choral Association, on Wednesday evening, completely filled Eliot hall with an assembly of Newton society people.

The program for the occasion was the cantata, Joan of Arc, by Alfred R. Gaul. The work itself does not stand in the front rank of musical compositions, although there are passages for the soloists as well as the chorus, that are melodious, and at times extremely effective, and proved capable of sustaining great interest.

The singing of the chorus was very commendable. The gentlemen showed, perhaps, a trifle too great an eagerness to participate in the fight in the battle-chorus, and distanced their leader; but the parts as a whole were well sustained. That of the ladies deserving especial credit both in their own and in the mixed choruses.

The audience was delighted with the grand voice of Mrs. Kilecki Bradbury, soprano. Her opening solos did not fit her mood; but the fault lay in the music, and not in the artist, as she showed very distinctly in her later numbers, when she demonstrated the power and purity of her voice, as well as the musical fervor of her nature.

Mr. J. C. Bartlett, tenor, with his beautiful voice under perfect control, presented a most musical rendering of what was undoubtedly the most melodious part of the cantata.

Mr. Frederic L. Martin's ponderous bass rang out with clearness and resonance and gave great satisfaction.

Upon Mr. Truette, the conductor, rested the burden of guiding the work to a successful issue and the result showed that he was equal to the task.

The accompaniments of Miss Henry were played with marked ability and power. The "Intermezzo" won well deserved applause.

The Association may be congratulated on the successful closing of a successful season.

DANGER SIGNALS.

No engineer would be mad enough to run by the flag which signaled danger. What the danger was he might not understand, but he would take no chance.

It is different with the average man or woman. They attempt constantly to run by the danger signals of Nature and that attempt costs thousands of lives every year. When the appetite becomes irregular or entirely gives out, when sleep is troubled and broken, when there is a loss of flesh, when there is a constant feeling of dullness and languor, Nature is hoisting the danger signal. The stomach and its allied organs are failing in their work and the body is losing the nutrition on which its strength depends.

Such a condition calls for the prompt use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies and enriches the blood and builds up the body with sound, solid flesh.

"Your kindness to me I can never forget," writes Mrs. Josie E. Clark of Enterprise, Shelby Co., Mo. "I cannot express half my feelings of gratefulness to you. I had despaired of ever getting well. I had been in bad health for twelve years. Had aches all through me, numb hands, cold feet, and everything I ate distressed me; bowels constipated, was very nervous, depressed and despondent. In fact, I can't express half my bad feelings to you. When I first wrote to you I thought I could never be cured. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and my health is now good. You have my honest recommendation to all sufferers. I think there is no medicine in the world as good as Dr. Pierce's."

If constipated use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cure constipation, biliousness and sick headache. They do not produce the "pill habit."

Dr. J. C. Bartlett, tenor, with his beautiful voice under perfect control, presented a most musical rendering of what was undoubtedly the most melodious part of the cantata.

Mr. Frederic L. Martin's ponderous bass rang out with clearness and resonance and gave great satisfaction.

Upon Mr. Truette, the conductor, rested the burden of guiding the work to a successful issue and the result showed that he was equal to the task.

The accompaniments of Miss Henry were played with marked ability and power. The "Intermezzo" won well deserved applause.

The Association may be congratulated on the successful closing of a successful season.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

Park Theatre—As was expected, the engagement of Neil Burgess in his "New County Fair" at the Park Theatre, opened with a boom that reminded one of the famous season of 1891-92, when Mr. Burgess played at the same little theatre for more than 30 weeks. While all the original features of the familiar play have been preserved, the great Race scene has been so much enhanced as to be practically new. It has always been a thrilling spectacle, but as at present put on the stage carries the audience to the wildest bounds of enthusiasm. The new company which Mr. Burgess presents this time was well received by a critical first night audience, Miss Emma Pollock in the character of "Taggs" scoring a decided success. The Barn scene was never put on to better effect. The marvellous panorama of "The County Fair," with a parade of $100,000 herd of cattle, nightly receive heartiest commendation from the theatregoers. There will be but one matinee each week during Mr. Burgess' stay at the Park, and that on Saturday.

Last Week of "Ben Hur."

Klaw & Erlanger's magnificent spectacle "Ben Hur" will close its engagement at the Colonial Theatre on Saturday evening, April 26, and those who have not seen this greatest of all stage productions should not miss the few remaining opportunities, for it will probably never again be seen in New England. There is a big advance sale for the closing performances, and those who desire to witness it should send in their orders for seats early by mail or telephone.

No much has been already said about this great stage version of Gen. Low Wallace's beautiful religious romance that it seems almost needless to again speak in praise of what is conceded by press and public to be the greatest dramatic triumph of recent years. For scenic splendor and novel mechanical effects it surpasses all dramatic spectacles of which there is any stage record, with perhaps the exception of "The Sleeping Beauty" and "Klaw & Erlanger's latest production, now playing to crowded houses in New York. The pictorial surroundings of "Ben Hur" are of singular beauty. Before the curtain rises on the prairie the theatre is placed in absolute darkness, so that it is necessary for all to be in their seats by 7.45 o'clock in the evening, and before 2 o'clock on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

At Bostock's.

This week, Mr. Frank C. Bostock, "The Animal King," again demonstrates his appreciation of the loyal patronage he has received in the Cyclops building on Tremont street by re-engaging Capt. Bonaville and his mammoth group of full-grown lions, in the most wonderful performance of wild animal training known to man. Bonaville is undoubtedly the most expert in the world, and the picture he presents in the great fifty foot steel-bond cage in the centre of the big auditorium is one that only the human eye itself can fully comprehend, and only the actual view of it can impart to a person its grandeur and magnitude. One unarmed man surrounded by a score or more of savage creatures is a sight of perilous magnificence, and one that will live long in the memory of those who witness it.

Another attraction, like the many which have gained for Mr. Bostock's enterprises an enviable reputation, is the bringing here of two pairs of the monster African Hummings, or lion-els, big baboons, which are the only specimens at present in this country. These animals are not the largest of the African species, but they are reputed to be most courageous, and do not hesitate to attack even the lion when forced to do so.

These are only a few of the features presented at Bostock's this week, and for one who has seen the show in its first season, it will necessitate several visits to this popular resort.

Reunion of Lasell Alumnae.

The New England Association of Lasell Alumnae held a reunion and luncheon, April 7, at the Vendome, about seventy-five former teachers and pupils being present. Professor Charles C. Bragdon, the president of Lasell, was unable to be present, but the college as represented by Professor G. J. Jewett, who was present with Mrs. Jewett. Professor Jewett made an interesting address, and letters were read from Principal Bragdon and Mrs. Parker, the president of the Lasell Alumnae Association. There were readings by Mrs. Blanche C. Martin, and songs by Miss Wheldon. At the luncheon which followed, Miss Austin, Miss Richards and Miss Pooler presided at the tea table.

EXTRACT FROM MR. BRAGDON'S LETTER.

"I find I can always depend on Lasell women, in the long run, to do well what their hands find to do. There is a peculiar charm about the friendships formed in school days. How sincere and lasting they often are, many of you can lovingly testify. To strengthen and widen these school friendships is the object of this reunion. Hence I consider the chief importance of a time like this is not the luncheon, but the formal exercises, however good they may be, but the social hour when hand grasps hand, loving eye looks into loving eye, the year's brief story is told to sympathetic ears, and Lasell girls of different years meet and learn to know each other and become as sisters."

Dear girls of various years I greet you with loving gratitude for all you have been and are in the institution which has sent you forth to meet life's duties. I give you for today's motto the exhortation of the aged apostle who had seen much of the world, its trials and triumphs, and had made up his mind that Love was the greatest thing in the world, "Little children love one another" and the love we give the world shall come back to you own lives making them richer, stronger, fuller, give to the mate who lags in the race; give to the poor who need it so; give to the rich who so often have so little; and in the measure of your giving shall you come to you, "good measure heap'd up, pressed down, and running over." That, children, is my sermon, the conviction of my life's later ripening.

One of the greatest pleasures of my later years is to see how splendidly Lasell girls develop; how strong and sweet they grow to be; how well they fill their places in life; how strongly they bear life's burdens; how gracefully they fit into high responsibilities, and how earnestly and successfully they are doing their life work. Thirty Lasell girls I have met here this winter; a large number from one little school so far away to come to one little city on the Pacific coast, and I am not disappointed in one of them. I honor all womanhood the more for what I know as the years go by, of the womanhood of Lasell. So far as in me lies no effort will be spared to make you increasingly proud of the school whose name you bear. In spirit I grasp each hand and thank you for coming and wish you every good.

"God bless us every one!"

Cordially, C. C. Bragdon.

EXTRACT FROM THE LETTER OF MRS. PARKER OF AUBURNDALE, CLASS OF '57, PRESIDENT OF ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION.

I send you my greetings from this city of the middle West. Our last meeting was at our semi-centennial and we may well pride ourselves on the maturity our Alma Mater has attained. How the noble heart of the founder would have rejoiced to see what we have seen. You remember that the class of '57, my own class, was represented by nine members out of the twelve remaining, and as the result of the united effort of the elder alumnae and of the generosity of Mrs. Lasell, portraits of the founder and of the first two principals were presented to the seminary. Prof. Lasell never intended to be the Principal of the institution but had planned a course of lectures, which were never given owing to his early death, as he lived only a month after the opening of the school.

I would like to tell you something of the impression which the great West makes upon one who sees it for the first time.

A strong desire of mine for many years has been to see this wonderful continent owned by the youngest of the nations. Kansas City is superb. A fine public library, with an art gallery on the upper floor, and a remarkable museum in the basement, showing the dramatic taste of the people. The library is well selected and skillfully catalogued and arranged for the convenience of readers and students. The post office and many other public buildings, notably the great convention hall, compare favorably with those of Eastern cities. The great department stores are quite up to date and as fine as any in New York or Boston. The markets are excellent and I confess I have never eaten such beef or mutton in my life; the stock yards and the packing houses I have not seen but they are described as being marvelously interesting. The people whom I have met are not unlike New England people. They are agreeable and intelligent, and I fail to find any distinctive Western characteristics, except a breadth of pronunciation not very common with us. In my daughter's home we are half an hour's ride from the business centre, on a high plateau overlooking a beautiful scene in all directions. Splendid boulevard carefully kept, bordered by double rows of young shade trees; beautiful residence on each side numbering on one street as high as 4,000. All is so breezy, so active, so progressive, one cannot help being moved and stirred. Only a few rods from our house passed the famous Santa Fe trail from the Missouri River to Mexico and California, wholly obliterated now by the coming of civilization.

Electric lines are everywhere and the farm houses in the country for many miles have their telephones. My journey hither was by way of Newport News, Virginia, in Western

Are You Run Down

Feel all worn out, brain won't work, have no appetite, no ambition, strength or courage—you need Vinol—we guarantee it will help you. Your money back if it don't.

How Vinol made W. F. Searle stronger.

"Your Vinol is certainly a wonderful preparation, one bottle having worked wonders with me. My appetite was gone, nothing tasted good. I decided to try Vinol, and on the second day after beginning to take it I began to relish food again. I have eaten heartily at each meal since, and not only feel stronger, but have made a substantial gain in weight."—W. F. SEARLE, 12 Pierpont Street, Peabody, Mass.

Mrs. S. C. Berry says Vinol is a Great Remedy.

"I was taken with the Grippe one year ago last March, but the cough never left me. I was all run down and did not care for anything or to live. Had two hemorrhages and others slight, but having read what Vinol had done for others I also tried it. I was surprised to notice a change so soon, but it is true. I have taken nearly four bottles and shall get more to take for a while longer. I am not the same person that I was when I began taking Vinol. It surely is a great remedy. It has done so much for me, both for throat and lung trouble, that I wish every one with such trouble would give it a fair trial."—Mrs. S. C. BERRY, High Street, Farm Hill, Middletown, Conn.

Come in and let us tell you about people right here in town who have been restored to health by Vinol. We don't hesitate to guarantee Vinol because we know what it will do.

Virginia the train was delayed fourteen hours by a land slide and 200 men were required to put the track in order. "Oh that is nothing," says a far Western friend, "we were delayed 29 hours and a thousand men were required to repair the track." Thus I learn that there is always something greater, and more beautiful and wonderful the farther West. We live and learn and it is becoming in conviction. Don't think for a moment that I love New England less, but no one can fail to admire the great, the magnificent West. Kansas City, Missouri. March 29th, 1902.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Curfew Ordinance Fails of Adoption—Warm Debate Over Victuallers' Licenses.

John Lowell Appointed Sinking Fund Commissioner—Various Kinds of Licenses Granted.

At the regular meeting of the board of aldermen last Monday evening, President Weed in the chair, these members were present: Aldermen Baker, Barber, Brown, Carter, Chesley, Day, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Lathrop, Lowe, Mellen, Norris, Pond, Saltonstall, Trowbridge, Webster, and Weldon.

CURFEW HEARING.

A hearing was immediately given on the proposed curfew ordinance reported on petition of N. T. Allen and others. Mr. Allen said that it was an oversight that the petition had not been more generally circulated. He believed, however, that such an ordinance would be a great preventive to immorality and wrong doing by children by keeping them out of the streets at night. He quoted Chief Tarbox as heartily in favor of it, and called attention to letters filed with the board from the mayors and chiefs of police from Waltham, Malden, Cambridge, Everett and Somerville commending the law in those cities. Mr. Allen also read a strong letter in favor from Mr. D. C. Heath, and an editorial from the Springfield Republican.

Mr. Thomas Halfrey spoke in opposition, believing the city should look ahead and not back. He did not believe in hampering parents who wished to send their children out after nine o'clock for physicians or medicine. The hearing was then closed.

APPOINTMENTS.

The nomination of John Lowell to be a Sinking Fund Commissioner, Trustee of the Read Fund and Eliot Memorial, vice Hon. Alden Spear, deceased, was unanimously confirmed with 18 ballots.

The nomination of Joseph Byers to be an Asst. Assessor in Ward 2, vice Williams, resigned, was also confirmed by 16 ballots.

A communication from the Mayor relative to regulating payment of salaries to City Hall employees during sickness or absence was referred to the committee on Rules, etc.

The Governor's proclamation of Arbor day on April 26 was read and filed.

The request of the Board of Health for an additional appropriation of $600 for removal of garbage was referred to the Finance committee.

A report of the City Engineer submitting certain sewer assessments on Grant and Commonwealth avenues was received.

On motion of Alderman Mellen the invitation of Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R. to participate in exercises of Memorial day was accepted.

PETITIONS.

A claim of Mary F. Pinkham for abatement of taxes on account of lack of sewer accommodations and bad water and the claim of Alex. Maguire for damages caused by overflow of brook were referred to the Committee on Claims.

Petitions of F. W. Lee et al. for sewer in Reservoir avenue; of J. D. Long et al. for sidewalk on Montvale road; of Mellen Bray for sidewalk on Chase street; of F. T. Williams et al. for laying out of Washburn avenue and Newell road were referred to the committee on Public Works.

Petitions of John Burns to move building from Glen avenue to Langley road; of Martin Ellis & Co. to move building from Chestnut to Dartmouth streets; of H. C. Moses to move building from Boylston street to Hale street; of C. G. Milham for 2 pool tables at Auburndale; of Arthur Gibson for 2 wagon licenses; of C. W. Keefe for 1 wagon license and of C. H. Shelton for 2 wagon licenses were granted without reference.

Petitions of the Gas Co. for attachments on Ward street; of the Telephone Co. for pole locations on Ward street, Grove street, Cherry street and attachments on Ballard and Beacon streets; (Hearings being ordered before the committee on April 30 at 8 p. m.); remonstrance of David A. Noonan et al. against a street railway in Woodward street; of Jared Whitman et al. for a street light on Garden road; of C. F. Driscoll for 2 wagon licenses; of G. Valente, Upper Falls and G. W. Dearborn, West Newton, for Common Victuallers' license and of David Kearny for a wagon license were referred to the committee on Public Franchises.

COMMON VICTUALLERS.

The petition of J. A. Simeone Co. for a Common Victuallers' license in West Newton, brought out a most interesting discussion, when Alderman Trowbridge urged its passage without reference, saying that the Franchise Committee believed it proper to grant a waiting room license in each village, and that this petition had been recommended by the alderman from Ward 3.

Alderman Lowe believed that if any licenses of this character were to be granted that this petitioner was entitled to one as he was "absolutely straight." He has arranged his rooms to accommodate the public and his place is directly opposite Dr. Lowe's house.

Alderman Lathrop was opposed to the principle of granting licenses to fruit dealers to open on Sunday.

Alderman Trowbridge said the committee had made careful examination and found the petitioners properly equipped.

Alderman Mellen said this was an attempt to keep open on Sunday a sell fruit and soda water. He expected a bitter fight on this same matter at Newton Highlands, and this case would prove a precedent.

Alderman Lowe said this place was at a junction of street railways and that the men had undoubtedly an eye to business. He will however accommodate the public with seats, with room for eating and with closet accommodations.

Alderman Brown said that all store keepers should be allowed to keep open on Sunday as well as fruit dealers. He was opposed on general principles to this foreign element coming here and doing business on Sunday. He cited the Nuenfeld place on the Charles river as a nuisance before it was abolished by the Park Commission and believed that Sunday openings was changing our residential city into a picnic city.

Alderman Lowe was in favor of wiping out all Sunday licenses if the board wished, but asked where they were to stop, and cited a restaurant in West Newton, which had regular boarders.

Alderman Chesley was opposed to granting licenses to fruit dealers.

Alderman Lathrop did not believe it wise to grant this license tonight and favored postponement on all fruit dealers petitions.

Alderman Weldon said the committee had considered petitions carefully and said it was not right to prevent any one from buying an orange on Sunday. He favored stopping electric cars and automobiles if such was the case. He thought these things were a necessity.

Alderman Trowbridge reminded the board that the report of the committee was on renewals except in two cases, and suggested that the law prevented the selling of fruit and soda water on Sunday.

Alderman Brown thought the question was capable of discrimination and believed a line could be drawn between a restaurant and fruit stands and picnic places.

Alderman Hutchinson thought the board was being deceived by these petitions for Common Victuallers' licenses from fruit dealers and said the board should be frank enough to license them as fruit dealers if necessary. He did not believe these men were any more Common Victuallers than a grocer who allows a seat in his store for the purpose of eating crackers and cheese.

Alderman Day said he was opposed to granting the license at this meeting.

Alderman Trowbridge said the committee was not hoodwinked by these petitions. They believed that waiting rooms should be provided in all centers of the city.

Alderman Webster said the committee believed this a matter of renewals or their report might have been different.

The granting of the Simeone petition was then refused. Aldermen Hubbard, Lowe, Norris, Pond, Trowbridge, Webster, Weldon and Pres. Weed, 8, voting aye, Aldermen Baker, Barber, Brown, Carter, Chesley, Day, Hutchinson, Lathrop, Mellen, and Saltonstall, 10, voting no.

The petition of S. Damiano Bros. for a Common Victuallers' license at Newton Highlands was referred to the committee on Public Franchises and a hearing ordered before the committee for April 30 at 8 p. m., the matter of public notice being withdrawn after Alderman Mellen had stated that a notice to the Improvement Society as remonstrants would be sufficient.

On the petition of the Fanning Printing Co. to locate an 8 horse power gas engine on High street, a hearing was ordered for May 5 at 8 p. m., and the matter referred to the committee on Public Franchises.

A petition of Walter Chesley to move a building from Boylston street to Oak street was granted under suspension of the rules, and subject to approval of the proper city officials.

The above licenses were granted.

JUNK LICENSES.

The report of the Public Franchise committee submitting the following list of junk licenses was accepted, after a motion to recommit made by Alderman Chesley had been defeated. Alderman Chesley thought there were too many junk licenses granted and believed one in each ward enough.

Licenses were then granted to Daniel Fitzgerald, Henry J. Doyle, Morris Greenwald, Joseph Hoffman, Philip Shriberg, John Collins, Israel Shriberg, Naine Platten, James Murphy, Morris Gilfix, Max Canter, Max Spinlesky, William Pendergast, Abram Shrier, Benj. Gilfix, Jacob Bressler, Jacob Neiberg, John J. Delaney, Abram Trackman, Max Meilman, Philip Rosenbaum, Geo. Beck, John Lawler, Chas. Carter.

COMMON VICTUALLERS.

The committee on Public Franchises submitted a report in favor of granting Common Victuallers' licenses to Delia E. Loane, F. Hyslop, Louis Tabaldi, A. K. Holden, J. R. Robertson, O. Anderson, Gustav Nuefeld, J. L. Raymond, Esther Brickett, Wilbur Bros. and Ellen R. Miller. The report was received and a parliamentary complication followed. Alderman Lathrop desired action on all but that of Tabaldi and Brickett, Alderman Webster wished all petitions recommitted, and Alderman Brown wished to recommit all fruit dealers and self appointed agents for street railways.

Alderman Trowbridge called attention to the fact that existing licenses would expire before another meeting of the board, and Alderman Lowe did not believe there was one name in the list but what sold fruit.

Chief Tarbox when called upon said that a license as a common victualler did not carry the right to sell fruit and cigars. He considered Brickett's and Tabaldi's as fruit stands.

When Alderman Lathrop suggested recommitment of Brickett's and Tabaldi's, Alderman Weldon suggested reference to the finance committee, saying that this matter had been fought out each year for three years.

Alderman Trowbridge said it would be a hardship on the public if Brickett's was closed, as the place was in constant use on Sundays and was a necessity.

Alderman Lowe favored recommitment and thought all applicants should appear in person before committee, on the fruit question.

Alderman Lathrop's motion to grant all but Brickett's and Tabaldi was then adopted, Alderman Baker, Lowe and Webster voting no.

The following reports of the Public Franchise committee were then adopted:

Recommending leave to withdraw on petitions of William Coughlin for a wagon license; of Harry Brown and Dave Gold for junk licenses; of F. S. Kempton for an Imholders' license; of Frank Rossi for a street musician license, and recommending no action necessary on petition of Mrs. Thomas Johnson for an intelligence office license.

CURFEW ORDINANCE.

A spirited discussion followed the presentation of the curfew ordinance by Alderman Brown, who called attention to the strong sentiment of neighboring cities in favor of this regulation.

Alderman Hutchinson said that only two citizens appeared before the committee, and but 2 at the public hearing held this evening, and thought there was a lack of public interest in the matter.

Alderman Hubbard said there was quite an agitation in favor of the law in his district.

Alderman Saltonstall was strongly opposed to the ordinance as he believed in keeping people, especially children away from the police station. He believed it created a spirit of bravado, and that the police ought not to arrest young children. In the summer months, Mr. Saltonstall said it might be an act of humanity to allow children to be out in the air.

Alderman Mellen thought the cities now having a curfew law had congested centres or a factory population, and in a city of homes like Newton such a law might not be desirable.

Alderman Weldon did not believe the city needed such a law. He represented the so called bad end of the city, but he did not believe you would find 3 boys on the streets after 10 o'clock at night. He thought parents who could not take care of their children ought not to have any.

Alderman Brown saw no harm in such an ordinance he believed it created a right kind of moral atmosphere, and called attention to the crowds at Norumbega Park.

Alderman Day believed such an ordinance would be a dead letter and will be broken as there is always a strong temptation to do forbidden things, and fun to dodge the police. He saw no need for such an ordinance in Newton.

The enrollment of the ordinance was then refused.

ORDERS.

These orders were then adopted: Appropriating $2700 for Cherry street drain; $2500 for settlement of Lucas claim; granting $87,806.55 for city expenses, granting Telephone Co. attachments on Pine Ridge road and Ward street; authorizing City Treasurer to advance $5000 on account of Boylston street; making sewer assessments on Grant and Commonwealth avenues; authorizing watering of certain streets, assigning hearings on May 5 on taking of land for sewers on Adams street, Chandler street, Edinboro street, Farlow road and Beechcroft road, and authorizing sewer construction in Elliott and Hammond streets (under suspension of rules). Order for sewer construction in Beacon street was referred to the Finance Committee and appropriating $1385 for water mains in Waldorf, Farlow and Beechcroft roads to the Public Works committee.

An order requiring all applicants for common victuallers' licenses to appear before Public Franchise committee was adopted.

Motions made by Aldermen Lowe and Weldon to reconsider the vote whereby J. A. Simeone Co. had been refused a Common Victuallers' license were ruled out of order, but on motion of Alderman Carter that vote was reconsidered and the petition referred to the Public Franchise committee.

Alderman Lowe desired some action taken on the communication of the Mayor relative to taxing public service corporations for use of streets, saying that the select committee were unanimous that reference should be had as suggested by the Mayor. He believed it to be a matter of importance and that a proper committee could get considerable information. The chair refused to receive a verbal report from the select committee and on motion of Alderman Lowe the matter was withdrawn from this committee. On motion of Alderman Pond the subject was then referred to a committee consisting of the 5 lawyers on the board, despite a vigorous no from Alderman Mellen. This committee consists of Aldermen Mellen, Ensign, Saltonstall, Carter and Weed.

And the board at 10.58 adjourned.

THE PRESENT SIGNIFICANCE OF PATRIOTS' DAY.

Jeremiah 23: 5-4. — And a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth. And this is his name whereby he shall be called, The Lord our Righteousness.

April 20, 1902.

"There is a subtle truth for all ages in this symbolic statement of Jeremiah, that the real ruler of any nation and in any time is to be found in the fundamental ideals which are cherished by the people. If that ideal is righteousness, then righteousness will rule the land. If that ideal is cupidity and selfishness, then these will be the real rulers. If the nominal ruler is not in accord with the underlying ideals of the people, then he will be deposed. If the nation is a monarchy, he will be deposed by the violence of revolution. If it is a republic, the misfit ruler will be gotten rid of by the more peaceful methods of evolution. But one thing is perfectly sure, the real ruler will always be the fundamental ideals held by the people themselves. It is of utmost importance, then, that in any nation which is to endure, which is to be permanently useful and helpful in the world, which is to hold its place among the nations of earth as one of influence and power—it is of utmost importance that right ideals should be cultivated among the people.

This is the great function of the church. Whatever may have been in the past the conception of the church as a place where men went for the purpose of selfishly saving their own miserable souls or seeking safety from future punishment, today the church has no excuse for being, save as primarily it stands for the cultivation and maintenance of true, noble, high ideals of living and of citizenship. When it ceases to perform that function, then it has outlived its usefulness.

I urge this thought upon you this morning because it has been suggested to me by the deep earnestness with which the people of this state and this vicinity, all day yesterday, were celebrating the anniversary of Patriots' Day. In Concord, in Lexington, and in Arlington, which in those days, so many years ago, was known as Menotomy,—in the Old South and the Old North churches, the people were thronging to pay their tribute of homage to the brave men who stood for the right, one hundred and twenty-seven years ago.

There is, if we can find it, a deep and permanent significance in all this; something which has not merely a national but a religious motive. There was a deep significance in the deeds that were wrought on the nineteenth of April, 1775. It was the real birthday of our nation. It was not until the Fourth of July of the following year that our nation found a voice and could tell its story to the world. But on the nineteenth of April, 1775, it stood mute, inarticulate, and yet living and breathing defiance to tyranny and wrong. The formal phrasing of the Declaration of Independence, and its publication to the world, were in the following year, but the real declaration of independence was made when those brave minute men stood on the village green of Lexington, facing the British regulars, facing death,—when their gallant captain, grandfather of our own Theodore Roosevelt, said to them, "Don't fire until you are fired upon, but if they want war it may as well begin right here."

That was the declaration of independence of the people of these United States. Compromise had been offered, compromise had been suggested by timid and even wise but cautious men. So far seeing a leader as Benjamin Franklin had advised that they should compromise along the lines suggested by the British ministry. But those men at Lexington stood there with no spirit of compromise in their thought; they stood there to be fired on and to die for the convictions which they held. And there this republic was born,—a republic of character, of righteousness, of truth, of the independent life. There was no longer any possibility of its remaining in subjection to any foreign power. And when the minute men from twenty-three towns about here left their homes, their shops, their fields, their families and shouldered their flintlocks and took the shortest way across the country to the heights of Menotomy, they were founding a new nation among the nations of the earth. They were choosing a new ruler to rule over them, and his name was "The Lord our Righteousness." For they were God-fearing men; they were men morally prepared for self-government. They were a real democracy, because they had that moral preparedness without which no democracy can long endure. They were men who had learned to face danger and hardship and privation; they were men whose courage was that, not of mere outward physical endurance, but of the inner life and conscience. They were men undisciplined in the arts of war, but they were disciplined in that far deeper battlefield, the conflict of the soul with self. They were God's heroes and God's soldiers, and they did not fear to face any lesser foe than the condemnation of their own consciences.

Now the question that comes home to us, over a century and quarter removed from the deeds of that day, is one of most vital interest. Are the ideals that were cherished by these men, which laid the foundations of our Commonwealth, the ideals which we cherish today? What were those ideals? Wherein lay their power,—these raw recruits,—to face disciplined soldiers, to drive back those men trained in the arts of war, humiliated, crushed and defeated by men who had left the plow to meet a disciplined army? Ordinarily, even in the best of causes, raw recruits become panic-stricken when they face the steady fire and discipline of old soldiers. But that day it was the British soldiers who retired panic-stricken and exhausted, glad to come within the protecting shelter of the British fleet. The minute men stood like a wall of fire around this much loved city of ours. What was the secret source of their power?

In the first place, these men were tremendously in earnest; and they had profound convictions of the right. The question that faces us is: Have we lost the strong tension of that moral earnestness which fired these men and laid the foundations of our nation? Here lies our danger, and that danger is vital, because we face conditions that are no less threatening and dangerous than those that faced those patriots so long ago. We need the same moral fibre, the same deep conviction of truth that possessed those men, if our nation is to endure. Not one foreign foe is facing us, but a million internal foes. The very commercial conditions which have made our great an incessant threat upon our national life and integrity. Selfishness incorporated and consolidated is one of the dangers. Ignorance, entrenched behind the ballot box in another Year after year hordes of ignorant voters are coming to our shores; and all about us yesterday at the Old North church there were the children of foreign nations, growing up ignorant, shiftless, idle, without the slightest possible conception of what the Declaration of Independence might mean or the provisions of the Constitution imply. And these are your coming rulers at the ballot box, swarming and increasing like bees around a hive, while the descendants of those who fought for liberty are decreasing steadily in numbers. It is a grave situation, and it is only the deepest convictions of moral earnestness, the tremendous power of the sense that the Lord our Righteousness is our ruler, that is going to save us from anarchy, misrule and final overthrow.

Have we that moral earnestness? Those men had convictions for which they were willing to die. Would you and I do the same, or would we compromise? Have we allowed policies to take the place of principles? Do we hold opinions instead of convictions? Are we cherishing some subtle, pleasing and comfortable philosophy of life, instead of the stern power of earnest and heartfelt religion? That is our danger today. The very cultivation that has come to us in times of peace and progress, the love of the thing which we call modern culture, has come to lessen our faith in and dependence upon an overruling power. We have become self-content, easily satisfied with our own progress, not willing to face honestly the dangers that arise from our own lack of moral earnestness. We no longer regard religion as one of the necessities of life. In the course of education of youth there are certain things fundamental, and religion is one; but we have come more and more to treat it as though it were an "elective course" that you might choose or not, as you saw fit. And it is this very lessening of the importance of the church, the importance of real religion, the importance of a sense of our dependence upon God, and the conviction that He and His righteousness shall rule the land, which constitutes to my mind the greatest danger of our nation today.

I should not stand in the pulpit of this church if I did not feel that it had a message and a mission to the young men of our country to make their lives strong, pure, noble and upright for the sake of preserving the integrity of this land that was founded in the blood of our forefathers and in the deep convictions of religious men and women.

We cannot idly ignore this religious element that entered into and ran through the whole life and being of the nation at its start, because therein is found the power of men few in number, untrained in military discipline, to meet the great need of the hour and march to the triumphant conclusion of that great struggle for human liberty.

The sense that we are God's children, that our work is His work, and that the great thing we are doing is not building railroads, forming great trusts or achieving commercial supremacy, of which we hear so much in these days,—not the acquisition of territory; none of these things; they are all incidental; but that the great and permanent triumph of this nation must be in salvation by character, in the founding and maintaining of churches that shall stand for all that is best and truest in the progress of our time, allied to the power of God working through the whole range of human history. And this is not an "elective course." Unless we choose it we shall fail. Unless we pursue it faithfully and earnestly our work will have been in vain. I have from the depths of my heart congratulated you on your part in the awakening interest in the external life of this church. But I shall feel that it is all in vain unless it represents at the same time a deep internal awakening of the sense of the righteousness of God and the cause for which we stand. Until we as citizens of the Republic, as members of this church, as residents of this beautiful city, let sink deep into our consciousness and work out in our daily lives the thought that the real ruler is "The Lord our Righteousness," we are founding our work upon the shifting sands. The call of today, as we recall the glorious past and it appeal to the patriotism of the youth of our land, is that we, of all classes and of all ages, shall realize the religious significance of Patriots' Day. It is God's day. It is the day when we need the sower of this old message of the Hebrew prophet to the people of Israel,—when all that is less worthy than the deepest, profoundest, convictions of life, the deepest and most earnest purpose, is laid aside as ineffectual and unworthy. The need of our nation today is for men,—men strong, earnest and upright of purpose,—men who by their example and their words shall inspire the young men of the land not only to enter upon the noble inheritance of the past, but to guard this land from the dangers of the future. It is a time when our prayer should be:

God give us men! A time like this demands strong minds, brave hearts, free thought, sound outward lives; Men whom the lust of office does not kill, Men who possess opinions and a will; Men who have honor, men who dare not lie, Brave men, sun crowned, who rise above the fog In public duty and in private thinking; For, while the rabble, with their thumb-nails, worn creeds, and their little deeds, Mingle in petty strife, lo! Freedom weeps, Wrong rules the land, and awaiting Justice sleeps;

God give us men!

HOBSON HONORED.

Newton's Tribute to The Gallant Captain.

His Visit Marked Event In City's History.

Hobson was delighted with Newton and Newton was more than delighted with Hobson. His visit here on Patriots' Day marked the most general observance of that holiday in this city since it was set apart on the commonwealth's official calendar. Those who met this pleasant faced, courtly young man of a little above the average height, dignified, yet unassuming bearing, were charmed with his personality. Those who listened in rapt attention to the forceful words of this gallant orator were enraptured by his eloquence.

And so it was that Hobson, Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson hero of the Spanish war, readily found his way into the hearts of the people of Newton, made stronger their admiration for the country's navy, and deepened their respect for the patriot and the man.

Arriving in Newton shortly before 11 A. M. last Saturday Capt. Hobson, accompanied by Samuel S. Whitney upon whose invitation he came to this city, went directly to Mr. Whitney's residence on Elmwood street, Newton, where he held an informal reception attended by a number of young people.

Within a short time Mayor Weeks drove up with his handsome trap and a party was made up, including the mayor, Capt. Hobson, Commander Colon S. Ober of Charles Ward post G. A. R. and Mr. Whitney. A local photographer's studio was visited after which a drive to Chestnut Hill was taken, followed by a visit to the grave of S. F. Smith author of America, at the Newton cemetery. Leaving the cemetery the drive was continued to Lasell seminary. The city's famous guest was presented to the students as the hero of the Merrimack. At the request of Prof. Jewett, Capt. Hobson told of that incident in which he played such a prominent part. The speaker displayed a most becoming modesty and gave the credit of the affair to those who served under his command. He seemed to possess a happy faculty of making his remarks particularly interesting to his hearers as students and young women.

There was a hearty laugh when Capt. Hobson repeated what had been said by an admiral that it was not so much the man behind the gun as the woman behind the man behind the gun.

He added too that he had discovered the reason that the Confederate army fought so valiantly and were so reluctant at giving in. "They were afraid," he said, to go home and tell their wives and sisters that they had been whipped."

For the edification of Capt. Hobson there was a drill of the Lasell battalion on the campus. The young women soldiers appeared in excellent form and executed the orders and maneuvers with a precision and rapidity that fairly delighted the captain as well as his friends.

After their departure from the seminary the party stopped for a few minutes at Mayor Weeks' residence, and then left for the Newton clubhouse, Newtonville.

Lunch was served and at the tables sat those who had been on the drive and Ex-Mayor Bothfeld, Ex-Mayor Cobb, Col. F. Kingsbury, Alderman George Hutchinson, and Capt. S. E. Howard. Mayor Weeks was host.

In Temple hall, Newtonville, an enthusiastic assemblage of young and old gathered long before the captain was announced to appear. When he reached there at 3.30 Temple hall was filled. Many of the post and their friends led the cheering which made the rafters tremble.

Capt. Hobson's address was brief but to the point. He said he entertained the greatest respect for the men of the Grand Army but thought the veterans on the Confederate side were entitled to like consideration. He declared that if the northerners had lived in the south they would have done as the southerners did and had the southerners lived in the north they would not have been Americans had they not done as the northerners did.

The result of the Civil War had the effect of strengthening the ties between the north and the south. The power of unity was never so fully realized as after the war.

In closing, the speaker said he had great hopes for the future of the United States. He said the opportunity to make it the greatest power upon earth lay in the hands of the patriots. He sincerely hoped that it might be as a help to the helpless, an elder brother to all nations, and in a position at any and all times to dictate peace in event of a controversy between other powers.

As the captain left the hall he was followed to the Newtonville station, where he went to take a Boston bound train. Here he was surrounded by a large throng of admirers, many of whom were anxious to obtain an autograph as a souvenir. Not once did he refuse a request but rather busied himself writing upon visiting cards, letter-heads, note-book leaves and the back of envelopes.

The train pulled in and with a hearty hand grasp to those nearest him and amid rousing cheers, Capt. Hobson bade Newton goodbye.

IN NEW FIELD.

Rev. L. H. Dorchester Is At Newton Centre.

Pastor of Methodist Church Of That Place.

Rev. L. H. Dorchester occupied the pulpit of the Newton Centre Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning for the first time as pastor. There was a large congregation.

The preacher's text was taken from psalms 46, 7th: "The Lord of Hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge," and Joel 2d, 28 and 29: "And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall see visions. And also upon your servants and upon the hand maidens in those days will I pour out my spirit."

Rev. Mr. Dorchester said in part: "There is a tendency in these days to decry the present and glorify the past. Some think that in the far off was all the divine, but fail to see any in the present. God is no back-number, no absentee. He is as much with us as ever before. It is the same God who spread the manna in Egypt that today gives crops of grain that the whole world may have."

"It is the same God of Bible times who today prompts the board of health and the boards of education who seek to purify us and to uplift us."

"It is not difficult to see that God was with Joshua; was his divine presence less manifest in the nineteenth century? Do we not see today examples of God's spirit in men?"

"It may appear without direct connection with the subject but I wish to state that the humanity shown the 5,000 Boer prisoners in the Bermuda Islands by Great Britain is marvelous. We each have our sympathies and ideas as to the motive of the war but that I do not intend to discuss."

"I have seen these prisoners myself and have talked with the men in charge. I wish to say that these prisoners are far better off than were our soldiers in the Spanish war. There is no suggestion of 'embalmed beef', but plenty of good, wholesome food."

"It is true that the search lights of the great British ships are upon the islands each night and a close watch is kept, yet these Boers receive many liberties."

"Some of the prisoners when first taken had money and diamonds in their possession. Instead of seizing these and appropriating them the British have placed them in a bank from which a monthly dividend is drawn and turned over to the prisoners who may expend in making their surroundings more comfortable."

"It is common belief that the Boer life is a simon pure democracy. Conditions among these prisoners show that some feel the like to occupy better quarters than others and display a difference in tastes."

Mr. Dorchester emphasized his belief that same divine inspiration that filled the hearts of Moses and Isaiah filled those of men of the stamp of Luther, John Wesley and Phillips Brooks.

In closing Mr. Dorchester declared that for the great opportunities of life enjoyed by the people of today, greater responsibilities were set upon and greater results and achievements exacted.

Police Paragraphs.

In endeavoring to place in custody Andrew Fahey, employed as a coachman by Mr. W. H. Furber of Centre street, Newton, Patrolman D. E. McLaughlin had rough and tumble fight last Saturday morning. According to the patrolman's testimony he was attracted to the Furber barn by a noise that Fahey was making. He says he cautioned him to stop and then continued patrolling his beat. Soon afterwards, the patrolman says he met Fahey staggering along Lombard street. He undertook to place Fahey under arrest and a scuffle followed. The struggle was prolonged as the officer found it difficult to secure help. McLaughlin's trousers and overcoat were considerably torn and damaged and Fahey received scalp wounds that required six stitches. In court Monday Fahey was fined $15 for assault upon an officer and put on probation for drunkenness.

Chinese Fete in Boston.

Chinese music, Chinese decorations, Chinese works of art and quaint glimpses of the every day life of the strange far off country beyond the Pacific will all be gathered together under one roof at Boston's Great Animal Arena, Cyclorama Building, Tremont street, Boston, on "Celestial Day," Monday, April 28.

That day from morning until late at night there will be offered a unique spectacle such as is seldom seen either in Boston or any other amusement centre of this country.

Undoubtedly the greatest feature of the show will be the Chinese band composed of native musicians, each an expert. As a novelty the hearing of the strange sounds proceeding from the queer instruments they play, and the seeing of their gala costumes and grotesque attitudes when performing will be one such as it would be a pity for one to miss.

Another attraction will be the Cantonese bazaar which will give in a strikingly vivid way a view of how the shops and places of the Chinese empire are conducted.

Beside the special Chinese features three will be the regular bill of animal acts and the huge collection of caged wild animals.

LIGHT AND DARK.

Day and night, sunshine and shadow are not more different from each other than a healthful from a sickly woman. The healthful woman carries light and sunshine with her wherever she goes.

The woman who suffers from ill-health casts a shadow on her own happiness and the happiness of others. She cannot help it. Those who suffer cannot smile and sing.

Ill-health in woman is generally traceable to disease of the delicate womanly organism. Many women have been restored to happiness by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I feel it my duty to inform you that I had been a sufferer for many years from nervousness with all its symptoms and complications," writes Mrs. O. N. Fisher, of 1861 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. "I was constantly going to see a physician or purchasing medicine for this or that complaint as my troubles became unbearable. In the spring of 1897 my husband induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking one bottle and following your advice I was so encouraged that I took five more bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and then I did not take any more for several weeks as I felt so much better, but still I was not completely cured. I commenced taking it again and felt that I was improving faster than at first. I am not now cross and irritable, and I have a good color in my face; have also gained about ten pounds in weight and one thousand of comfort, for I am a new woman once more."

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. His profit is your loss, therefore accept no substitute. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The appointment of Mr. John Lowell of Chestnut Hill as a Sinking Fund Commissioner indicates that the Mayor is fully alive to the importance of maintaining the high standard always borne by the members of this board, as well as a personal tribute to a gentleman with whom he has been associated in large financial transactions.

While Mr. Lowell is not personally known to many of our citizens, the entire community honors and respects the name he bears and is cognizant of the family position in letters, law and legislation.

The defeat of the curfew ordinance was occasioned by the evident lack of public sentiment in the matter. Ordinances and regulations, unless demanded by public opinion, are worse than useless.

The protests against the continuance of the one session in the Bigelow district grow strong and loud, and a hearing will probably be asked of the school board on the matter.

Newton Woman Suffrage League.

The Newton Woman Suffrage League met with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Walton, Chestnut street, West Newton, Thursday evening, April 17, Mrs. Rowe in the chair. After a little preliminary business, Miss Maria L. Baldwin, principal of the Agassiz school, Cambridge, gave a most interesting talk on the subject of "The Teacher in Social Reform."

Mr. Marcus Morton of West Newton spoke on "Intelligent Suffrage." Mr. Morton said, in spite of the fact of the many societies working for social betterment, there is little truly intelligent suffrage. Most people are either blindly following their demagogues or else working for their own selfish interests. It was truly said in the time of Napoleon, "If you march against the people you march into night," and the same is true today.

Mr. A. E. Bailey of West Newton told of the work done by some children in one of the worst sections in Chicago.

A pleasant social hour followed. The next gathering of the League will be at Newton Neighborhood Club house, May 13.

Letter to J. S. Jackson.

Dear Sir: Is a gallon of paint a gallon of paint, or half-a-gallon? Sometimes one, sometimes the other. E. P. Lynch, and his predecessor, Delhi, N. Y., sold a well known Mixed Paint for twenty years—It's a good paint, as mixed paints go.

N. Avery owns two houses exactly alike there. He painted one four years ago with Mixed Paint—took twelve gallons. Last spring, he painted the other house with Devco; bought 12 gallons and had six gallons left. Same painter: George Gilbert. Same result, so far as looks go.

But the point of this tale is: 1st, That a paint is dark or cheap according to what it is; no matter about the price; 2nd, That a gallon of one kind of paint can contain twice as much paint as a gallon of another kind of paint.

Devco goes twice as far as Mixed Paint—two to one—but that isn't all—how it wears is the rest.

Another, same town—Ferguson & Thompson's store was painted some years ago with this same Mixed Paint 32 gallons. Repainted last spring with Devco. Mr. Lynch said 16 gallons would be enough. They have 3 gallons left.

Yours truly, F. W. Devco & Co. P. S. J. M. Briggs & Son sell our paint.

Joshua Blake.

Mr. Joshua Blake, who died suddenly Thursday evening of last week, at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna M. Langley of Cherry street, West Newton, came of an old and respected Boston family.

Mr. Blake was seventy-five years of age. He was born in Boston, the youngest of a family of nine children, of whom he was the last survivor. His wife, whom he married late in life, had also been dead for several years. He had never been an active business man, but had devoted his life to leisure, travelling all over the world and having many adventures. He was a gentleman of the old school, who lived quietly on his inherited means.

The funeral took place from the chapel at Mt. Auburn cemetery, Monday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. J. C. Jaynes officiating and the interment was in the family lot.

"The Robbers of the Rhine."

The production of a five act musical drama, "The Robbers of the Rhine," by members of St. John's club of Newtonville, in Temple hall last evening delighted a good sized audience and won much praise for these clever young men. R. P. Gammons, 2d, was business manager, W. H. Brown stage manager, H. Mc C. Blackhead coach and Miss Eudora Bassett, accompanist. It will be repeated this evening.

The Woodland Golf Club opened its course last Saturday, and a large number of its members took advantage of the fine weather and excellent condition of the course.

Central Club Banquet.

The Central Club's first banquet proved a great success. It was held last evening at the Newton Club and attended by the young men of the Central Congregational church, Newtonville, and their guests. Pres. H. B. Patrick, presided and speeches were made by W. S. Slocum, N. H. Chadwick, Rev. O. S. Davis, W. C. Boyden, M. S. Williams, Dr. H. W. Thayer, F. W. Harding, Chester J. Briggs and R. C. Gibbs. The committee in charge included F. W. Harding, Wm. Higgins and Robert Chapman, Jr.

Improved Methods.

Of late years hygienic authorities have recommended the general use of such an article as Cabot's Sulphur Naphthol to keep everything in the household clean and healthful and bacteriological tests have proved it to be the standard germicide, purifier and detergent, or cleaner. A little in the water when cleaning purifies and leaves the house in a perfect sanitary condition, which may be maintained at slight expense and with less labor than with other cleansing agents.

Golf Clubhouse Destroyed.

The Possibilities of Legitimate Mining.

$1,000 invested in the great Red Boy mine of eastern Oregon 5 years ago, is worth $200,000 today, besides having paid many thousands in dividends during that time. The principal vein in this property is known as the Golden Monarch vein. The Red Boy Co. has this vein for 100 feet; the Oregon Monarch Gold Mining Co., which is a direct south-east extension of the great Red Boy vein, has the same vein for a distance of 4,500 feet. The shaft of the Red Boy Co. is on the Golden Monarch vein only 100 feet from the north-end line of the Oregon Monarch property and develops the Oregon as well as the Red Boy.

We believe the possibilities of any investment in the Oregon Monarch Co. are equal to that of the Red Boy 5 years ago. WE ARE OFFERING OREGON MONARCH STOCK FOR THE MONTH OF APRIL AT 20c. A SHARE. For particulars address
